

Kids not only tell Santa what toy but what brand

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
Kids know what they want for Christmas, precisely — by brand name and price, Santa Claus says. Department store Santas, interviewed in 10 cities across the country, said boys this year are asking for Evel Knievel stunt cycles and action dolls — the Six Million Dollar Man and others of the G.I. Joe type. Girls want dolls that walk, dolls that talk, dolls that do other things, and pizza ovens. Ten-speed bikes, Star Trek kits and walkie-talkies are popular. Baby That-a-Way, a doll that crawls, leads the doll parade. And there are more requests for electric trains than in recent years, the Santas said, and fewer requests for toy guns. But the thing the Santas most consistently reported was the increasing tendency of young believers to ask for particular toys by brand name. They cite advertising as a major influence, and note also that children seem to be more aware of the price of toys. "About every fifth boy asks for the Six Million Dollar Man," said Edward Sullivan, Santa at a shopping center in suburban Boston. "Whatever is heavily advertised on TV is what they ask for. They come up knowing exactly what they want, the brand names." "I can tell just what toys are being pushed hard by advertising agencies because the kids name them by brand name," a St. Louis Santa Claus added. Most kids ask for three of four things, the Santas said. "They will come in with their things all written out and even have the prices beside it," said Booker Lucas, in his fifth year as Santa Claus at a downtown department store in Columbus, Ohio. "They still believe in Santa Claus. They try to help out how they can — by bringing in the ads and telling Santa how much its going to cost." There are, of course, the unusual requests — giraffes, encyclopedia, house boats and ants. "A little boy came up and said he wanted a switch blade and a gun. Finally he agreed he'd settle for a play gun and an Evel Knievel stunt cycle," said John Youngblood, a New Orleans Santa. But even the Evel Knievel cycle, a toy for imitating the jumps of the motorcycle stunt man, isn't for everyone. "One little guy didn't want Evel Knievel. He wanted some animated toys," another New Orleans Santa reported. "Of course, he looked like your highly educated kid."

Ford car prices will rise 2.2% in January

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will raise the base price of its cars an average 2.2 per cent or $97 next month, the company announced today. Suggested retail prices for optional equipment will increase an average of 1.6 per cent, Ford said. Prices for light trucks will increase an average of 2.8 per cent or $123. Ford said the increases, effective on models built or sold on or after Jan. 5, were necessary to recover increased costs for labor and materials, including government required safety equipment. Ford raised combined base and option prices an average 4.7 per cent or $247 at the beginning of the 1976 model year. The company said that during the three model years prior to 1976, costs of more than $350 a vehicle were not recovered through price increases. Price increases at the introduction of the 1976 model year recovered only about 60 per cent of expected cost increases and the latest increase still would not recover all of the costs, Ford said.

Ford said government safety standards requiring improved hydraulic brake systems for passenger cars and three-point lap and shoulder belts for light trucks had boosted costs. The new safety requirements are effective Jan. 1, 1976. The price increase ranges from a low of $81 for the Pinto Pony two-door sedan to $148 for a two-door Lincoln Continental Mark IV. The new, suggested retail price for the Pinto Pony will be $2,976. The new base price for the Mark IV will be $11,208. Ford also said the imported Capri will be increased 2.8 per cent or $118, effective Jan. 5. The suggested base prices of medium, heavy and extra-heavy trucks will increase an average of $320 or 3 per cent as of Feb. 1, the company said. Chrysler Corp. raised its prices an average $178 this fall, the smallest increase by a U.S. automaker at the start of the 1976 model year. General Motors boosted prices an average $268 and American Motors Corp. posted an average $190 increase at the launching of the new model year.

Train hostages freed

One kidnap siege over, Dutch to wait out 2nd

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Premier Joop den Uyl says the Dutch government will wait out the Moluccan nationalists holding 25 hostages in the Indonesian consulate just as it did the gunmen who held 24 persons captive on a train for 12 days. Den Uyl said he "hoped for an early end" to the consulate siege, which ended its 11th day today. But he said the government did not yield to the political demands made by the six Moluccans on the train and would not yield to those at the consulate. The six young men who hijacked the train near Beilen, 90 miles north of Amsterdam, on Dec. 2 surrendered at noon Sunday after the temperature aboard the unheated train dropped to 22 degrees the night before. It was thought likely that the young men would be charged with murder because they killed the train engineer and two of the passengers. A seventh hijacker who was hospitalized after an explosion Dec. 5 has already been charged with murder. Three of the hostages were carried from the train on stretchers, but all were reported in "fair to good" condition. They included 17 men and seven women and ranged in age from a 16-year-old boy to a woman of 72. Both groups of South Moluccans demanded that the Dutch government give active support to their campaign for independence for their native islands from Indonesia, the prewar Dutch East Indies. Leaders of the South Moluccan community in The Netherlands who negotiated with the train hijackers claimed that they persuaded them they could continue their struggle for independence peacefully. But Justice Minister Dries van Agt said: "The terrorists saw it was useless to go on. They realized we were not prepared to make one single concession." Johan A. Manusama, the head of the South Moluccan community of 40,000 exiles, said there might be more terrorist actions "unless the Dutch government lends a willing ear to the South Moluccan case." "From now on our words will carry more weight," he declared. Meanwhile, in Amsterdam, there were reports of gunfire in the besieged consulate, but a police spokesman said he could not confirm this. The spokesman said the gunmen had asked for the Rev. Semeul Metiary, a South Moluccan clergyman who had been the intermediary between them and the police, but the police couldn't find him. "Now it's up to him to contact us," the spokesman said.

Meningitis case closes Youth hall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A quarantine was tentatively in effect today at the county's central juvenile facility after one 15-year-old boy came down with meningococcal meningitis, authorities say. The unidentified youth was reported in good condition Sunday at County-USC Medical Center where he was taken Saturday, and no further inmates were reported stricken by the disease, an inflammation of the base of the brain and top of the spinal column. Authorities placed about 40 juveniles in two wards at Eastlake Juvenile Hall in full quarantine and imposed a partial quarantine on the rest of the 500 inmates. A spokesman said the quarantine may be lifted today.

GM December sales up 63%

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp.'s auto sales pace in the first 10 days of December surged 63.3 per cent from the depressed levels of a year ago, and Ford Motor Co. improved 18.7 per cent, the companies said Monday. GM's year-to-year surge was the strongest since mid-September 1973 and was seen as further evidence that the industry is back on its feet after a two-year slump. The firm said it sold 121,746 cars, or 13,527 for each of nine selling days in the Dec. 1-10 span. Ford said it sold 55,262 cars in the period or 6,140 per day. The firm said sales were depressed somewhat because a dealer incentive program in its Ford Division ended Nov. 30. American Motors Corp. said its sales pace was up 60 per cent from its severely depressed performance of a year ago, when deliveries plummeted 49.8 per cent. Sales this year were 8,321 cars or 925 per day.

Down trend reversed

Businessmen stock up as sales increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Businessmen increased their stocks of goods and raw materials by the biggest amount of the year in October because of increased sales, the government reported today. The Commerce Department said inventories at all levels of the economy climbed $1.9 billion during the month, for the third straight monthly increase and the largest since the $3.97 billion rise last December. Inventories had climbed $425 million in September. The latest increases apparently indicated merchants were stocking up for the holiday shopping season. The three-month growth in inventories reversed what had been the most severe inventory liquidation since World War II.

The inventory drawdown earlier this year had been a drag on recovery from recession. But with the reaccumulation of stocks, workers are now kept busy producing goods for inventories as well as current sales.

The latest advance was made possible primarily by a $1.6 billion inventory increase at the retail level. That and a $391 million inventory increase at the wholesale level counteracted a $96 million decrease at the manufacturing level. The manufacturing decrease was the eighth in a row and was $10 million larger than the September drop.

The Commerce Department said business sales over-all jumped 1.1 per cent to a total of $175.3 billion. Sales had increased six-tenths of a per cent in September. Increases at the manufacturing and retail levels overcame a drop of four-tenths of a per cent at the wholesale level.

Mild quake hits near Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — An earthquake registering 4.7 on the Richter scale has jarred the desert near here, but police say there were no reports of damage and only one telephone call from a curious resident.

70 m.p.h. winds close Route 8

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Northeast winds gusting up to 70 miles an hour swept through portions of San Diego and Imperial counties Sunday night, forcing the closure of a 50-mile stretch of Interstate 8.

The California Highway Patrol said there were "numerous reports" of campers, mobile homes and at least one tractor-trailer rig being blown over by the high winds.

The highway, which runs from San Diego to Yuma, Ariz. along a route just above the U.S.-Mexican border, was closed from Alpine in central San Diego County to Ocotillo in western Imperial County.

Israel economic squeeze proposed

Longer work week, less vacation

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's economic planners, pressing for adoption of a tight budget and hard economic program, today forecast longer hours and shorter vacations for most Israelis, more price hikes and scarcer jobs. Critics predicted the plan would also increase crime, punch gaping holes in the country's socialized medicine and might close as many as 1,000 school classrooms. Stressing the need for continuing American aid, senior treasury officials told foreign newsmen Israel was making a maximum effort to set its financial house in order, and cuts in U.S. aid would mean even more hardships.

They spoke at a news conference after Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz presented a record $12 billion budget to the cabinet, which failed to reach agreement after what some reports said were bitter arguments. One newspaper said only half the 20 cabinet ministers approved the budget in a preliminary vote Sunday. Arnon Gafni, director-general of the treasury, told newsmen that since 1973 Israel had held up plans for new hotels and hospitals, and no new university buildings, museums or theaters had been built. The freeze in public building would continue, he said. Gafni predicted the proposed budget measures would mean Israelis would buy 3 per cent less next year. American aid plays a key role in Israel's economy, hurt by the 1973 Mideast war and the world recession that followed. Israel has a $2.3 billion aid request pending in Congress and Gafni said a cut by as much as $500 million would mean another 10,000 Israelis would be out of work. As it is, the treasury plan envisions an increase in unemployment from the present 37,000 or 3.2 per cent, to 60,000 next year. Most of Israel's problems stem from huge defense expenditures, next year set at about 40 per cent of the total budget, the planner said.

Stiff measures were needed to trim Israel's $3.7 billion trade deficit, Gafni said, and the treasury's plan indicated the Israeli worker and housewife would bear the consequences. The plan calls for less vacation time and an extra hour's work for anyone working less than 46 hours a week. Nearly all Israelis work a six-day week. Higher taxes will mean less spending power in each paycheck, and the government plans to slash subsidies from basic food items, like bread, which now costs 12 cents a loaf, and milk, now at 25 cents a quart.

Weather

Sunny and warmer weather predicted through midweek. Moderate winds continuing in the local area. High today 58, low tonight 35, high Tuesday 59. The high Sunday was 55 and the low this morning was 33. Tuesday's sunrise 6:50, sunset 4:44.

Sara Jane Moore gets new psychiatric exam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sara Jane Moore's attempt to plead guilty to charges she tried to kill President Ford will depend on the outcome of a new examination of her mental competency.

Miss Moore's trial was scheduled to begin today, but plans were changed when she went into court last Friday and asked to plead guilty to the attempted assassination charge.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Samuel Conti ordered a special hearing for today to determine whether he will accept the plea or order Miss Moore to stand trial.

The judge ordered a new psychiatric examination of the 45-year-old bookkeeper and onetime FBI informant over the weekend to determine whether Miss Moore is mentally competent to change her plea.

If he finds that she is now competent, he must consider further whether she was mentally competent at the time she fired a shot at President Ford last Sept. 22 in order to accept a guilty plea. If the judge is unable to make that decision, he would have to order further hearings or leave it to a jury to decide that question.

"I am not now insane in either the legal or medical sense," Miss Moore told the judge after asking to be allowed to plead guilty. "... I do not believe I was insane in either the legal or medical sense on Monday, Sept. 22, 1975."

Miss Moore fired a gun at Ford as he emerged from a downtown hotel. A bystander deflected the gun and the bullet missed the President.

Dr. Robert Jack Eardley, a Springfield, Mo., psychiatrist who originally found Miss Moore competent to stand trial after her arrest, was called in to make a new examination over the weekend. He was expected to report his findings at the hearing.

Only hours after her court appearance, Miss Moore told the San Francisco Examiner she "would do anything in the world to go free."

"I don't want to spend the rest of my life in jail," she said.

She said by changing her plea she was trying to avoid a "courtroom circus" in which her history of prior mental illnesses would be dredged up in testimony. Miss Moore had been in mental hospitals on several occasions and had once been judged "psychotic."

COMMUTER SANTAS

Two Santa Clauses chat as they wait for a subway train at 34th Street in New York. Both men identified themselves as "Santa Claus" and "Santa's Helper" and said they were on their way to work in a Brooklyn shopping center.

Hollywood sex shops raided, shut down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A half-dozen Hollywood sex shops have been raided by sheriff's vice officers who arrested 13 women and five men and closed down all the establishments.

The woman taken into custody in the raids Saturday night were booked for investigation of prostitution. The men, all of them managers of the establishments, were booked for investigation of failure to have licenses for a business running an escort service.

"We have made arrests in the area from time to time in the past but this is the first night we've shut down all of them in one night," said Capt. Clifford Montgomery, head of the vice squad.

In the past, he said, some of those arrested have been released. "The previous cases are all pending in court," Montgomery said. "The wheels of justice turn slowly."

The raids occurred in unincorporated county territory near where Los Angeles police have been stationed outside such firms, checking the identification of potential customers.

This Santa got caught

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Not only was Santa Claus' candy in "very poor condition," but his immigration card allegedly was forged, and Mauricio Castillo-Espinoza was held for deportation, police said.

Castillo-Espinoza, 34, dressed up as Santa Claus Sunday and passed out candy to children, but police drew the line when he asked their parents for "donations" afterwards. Officers said Santa had collected $67.90 in four hours.

"He had on a complete Santa Claus getup, the beard, the rouge, everything," one officer said. "I understand the candy he had was in very poor condition."

He was arrested after officers warned him twice to cut out the panhandling at the Olvera Street plaza in downtown Los Angeles.

After he was arrested, police said they checked his papers and booked him for investigation of forgery of an immigration card.

Gov. Brown appears; 57-hour sit-in ends

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. "made no promises" to parents of mentally retarded children during an hour-long meeting Sunday night, ending their 57-hour sit-in outside his office, the parents said.

About 25 members of the Ad Hoc Committee for the Parents of the Retarded staged the protest in an effort to get improved care for their children at state hospitals.

"We're glad the governor finally saw us," said Helen Hopkins, chairperson of the group. "He appeared interested and asked many questions."

However, she said Brown was non-committal, saying he would have to study their requests and how they would fit into the new state budget.

The parents' group has criticized what they say is the state's "custodial" care for retarded children in state hospitals under staffing standards set in 1968.

"What we want them to do is to implement the 1973 staffing standards which provide for more direct-care staff so that the residents (at state hospitals) may be taught self-help skills and how to control negative behavior," Mrs. Hopkins said.

Mario Obledo, Brown's Health and Welfare Agency director, says the standards the parents want would cost $50 million, and that Brown won't spend that much.

Fiji government bans shark fight

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — The Fiji government today banned a fight between an Australian diver and a 17-foot killer shark that a Los Angeles promoter planned to televise from a Fiji lagoon.

The government said it told the Theater Film Corp. that the fight would offend many Fijians, whose tribal totem is the shark.

Police book alleged killer of L.B. cop

LONG BEACH (AP) — Acting on a tip, police have booked a 24-year-old man for investigation of murder in the shooting of an off-duty policeman who died in his wife's arms in front of his home.

Officers said Terry Dean Harper of Culver City was arrested Sunday after the death of officer Franke Lewis, 28, on Saturday.

Lewis' wife, Linda, had been waiting for him and ran from the house when she heard the fatal shot. She cradled her husband's head in her arms as he bled to death, witnesses said.

Lewis, who was shot in the face at close range, "didn't have much of a chance," said detective Sgt. John Huribirt. "He caught it cold."

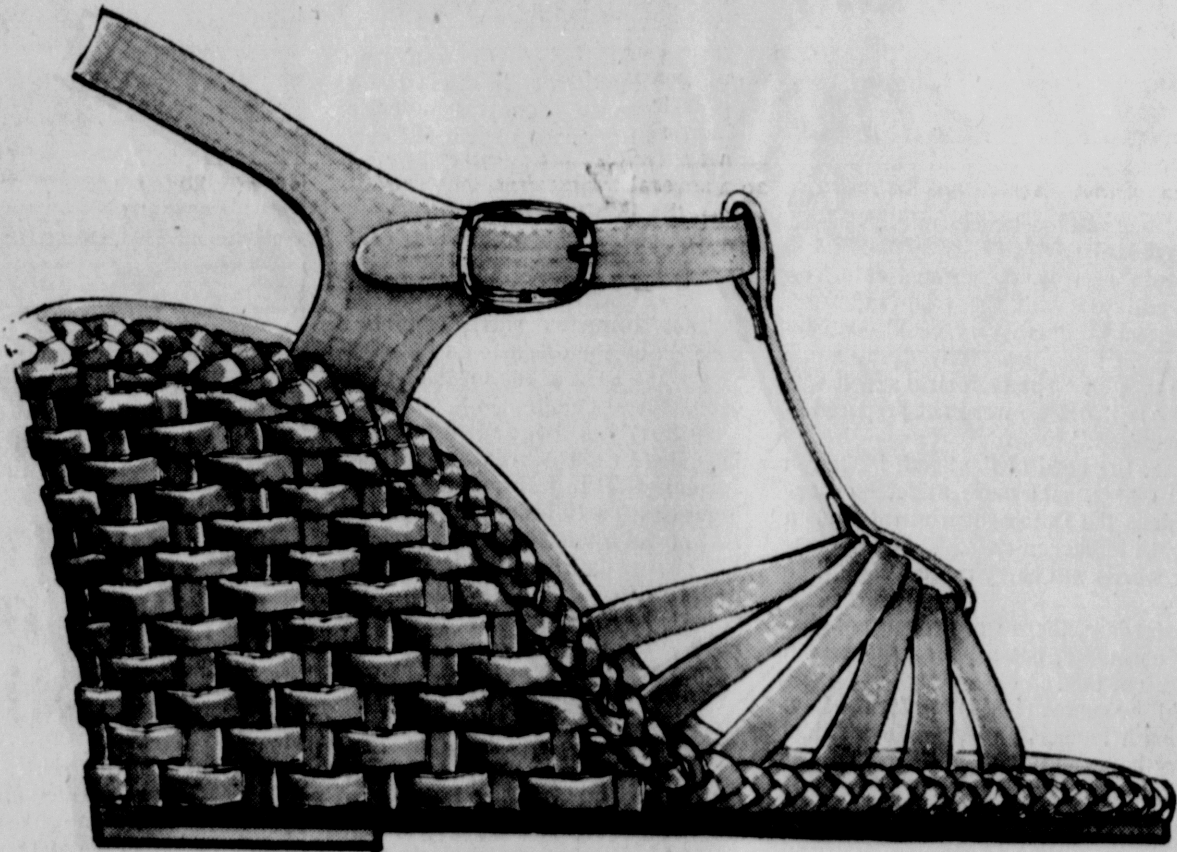

The investigator said Lewis saw a strange car parked near his house as he was arriving home from work, decided to investigate and apparently interrupted his assailant in the act of beating another man.

Police said they arrested Harper after receiving a tip from a citizen.

Congress to vote on tax cuts, energy bill

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing to wind up its 1975 session this week with votes on a long-debated energy bill and on a measure extending individual income tax cuts into the new year.

President Ford has expressed opposition to both proposals but may be forced to accept them.

Ford insists he will accept the 1976 tax cut only if Congress agrees to reduce federal spending in 1977 the same amount as the tax reduction.

He has threatened to veto any tax cuts that are not linked to reductions in spending.

The Senate bill expected to reach Ford's desk would extend this year's temporary tax cuts through June 30, rather than through all of 1976 as originally voted by the House.

According to some economists, if the tax cuts are allowed to expire this month, $13 billion would be drained from the economy and unemployment next year might climb by 500,000 workers.

Failure to extend the tax cuts would cost a married man earning $15,000 a year and supporting a wife and two children an additional $4.73 a week in withholding, or about $250 more in income taxes for the year, according to the Internal Revenue Service. For single persons earning $15,000, withholding would be increased by about $3 per week or $156 for the year.

The tax cut, enacted this year as an economy boosting measure, expires automatically on Dec. 31 unless extended by Congress.

Also up for final action in the Senate today is a politically sensitive bill heavily backed by labor. The bill, which Ford once supported but now is under conservative pressure to veto, would allow a union involved in a dispute with one subcontractor to picket and shutdown an entire construction site.

The House is expected to vote today on the final version of the compromise Democratic energy bill that includes temporary price cuts of 2½ cents to 3½ cents a gallon on gasoline and home-heating oil.

There is wide belief that Ford will sign the energy package because his advisers have told him it is the best he can get out of Congress this year. Senate passage may come Tuesday or Wednesday.

Ford's original energy plan, which Congress rejected, was based on the theory that higher fuel prices would force conservation while providing incentives for oil companies to drill for more oil.

Under terms of the bill, fuel prices would be reduced, then allowed to rise slowly before all price controls end in March of 1979.

The administration argues the initial price rollback will discourage U.S. energy production and increase U.S. reliance on foreign oil. Supporters contend the plan is needed to keep fuel prices down while the economy is trying to recover from recession.

The bill also contains fuel conservation provisions, including a requirement that automobile manufacturers build cars that use less fuel beginning with 1978 models.

Spotlight on area crime

Pomona woman tells of rape

A 32-year-old POMONA woman told police early Sunday that a man climbed into her home in east-central Pomona and raped her while her children slept nearby.

The victim said she was awakened by sounds of the man entering the house at 6:30 a.m. She described him as a tall Negro in his late 20s or early 30s wearing a windbreaker and dark trousers.

The woman told officers she feared for the safety of her children and was frightened herself. After the attack the intruder, then apologetic, left out the front door.

Three heavy set women with a 16-year-old boy robbed the Circle K Market, 12845 Foothill Blvd., in ETIWANDA of six ladies watches and a small amount of cash, sheriff's deputies reported.

Store clerk Ruth L. Knight called deputies about 11:15 p.m. Saturday to report the robbery. She told officers the four walked into the store and asked to see a watch display, which was grabbed from her hand. One robber placed her hand in her pocket to simulate a weapon while the other took the cash from the register. The four ran toward Foothill Boulevard.

Pomona police today planned to question a young man about his being stabbed late Saturday night at a party somewhere in the city.

The victim, Charles Ross Aguilera of Pomona, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital shortly before 11 p.m. by another young man who did not identify himself before he left. Emergency room workers told police the young man said only that Aguilera had been attacked by several persons who beat him and stabbed him as he was leaving a party somewhere near Orange Grove Avenue.

Aguilera underwent emergency surgery for three stab wounds and was confined to the hospital's intensive care unit today. Police were unable to interview him immediately after the incident.

Nine persons living in an apartment complex at 249 Amber Court in Upland called police Sunday to report that vandals had slashed the tires of their cars during the night.

One resident reported that the vandals had slashed his car tires and a convertible top.

Police had no leads in the case this morning.

Fewer holiday Postal Service jobs this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are fewer jobs for those seeking temporary work this Christmas season with the Postal Service.

The Postal Service last month adopted a policy of reassigning its employees whenever they are not needed at the office where they have been working.

This means that wherever possible the existing work force will handle the annual flood of Christmas mail, a Postal Service spokesman said.

The new policy is one of a series of moves Post Master Gen. Benjamin F. Bailar has taken to try to hold down the Postal Service's labor costs. The Postal Service has predicted a record $1.4 billion deficit this fiscal year.

The drying up of Christmas jobs comes at a time when applicants are not the usual college students picking up extra money on vacations. This year, people who are victims of the nation's high unemployment rate are seeking temporary employment at Post offices, officials said.

More than 1,000 persons filled out Postal Service employment forms for Christmas jobs one day recently at the Washington Post Office.

The lobby of the post office was jammed with job seekers after a Washington radio station broadcast an erroneous report that the Post Office was seeking temporary workers.

"We gave them postpaid envelopes and encouraged them to mail the applications back to us," local information aide Jesse Brown said.

But most of the applicants were so anxious to get their bids in early that they stayed to complete them.

A Postal Service spokesman said a figure on the number of temporary workers this Christmas season isn't available yet. But it will be "a lot fewer" than the 32,000 hired last year.

Indian leader found guilty

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) — American Indian Movement leader Russell Means was found guilty of riot today in the 1974 Minnehaha County Courthouse battle between police and AIM sympathizers.

Circuit Court Judge Richard Braithwaite, who tried the case without a jury, found Means innocent of a second charge, injury to a public building.

Means remains free on $2,000 bond. He faces sentencing Dec. 31.

Means, a 40-year-old Oglala Sioux, was a key figure the 1973 AIM siege at Wounded Knee.

He was one of nine persons charged in the Sioux Falls courtroom battle on April 30, 1974. Braithwaite earlier dismissed charges against five of the defendants saying that an unbiased jury could not be found in Sioux Falls.

Knight slaying suspect captured

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Salvatore Soli, a suspect in the killing a week ago of newspaper heir John S. Knight III, was arrested at a motel here Sunday night, police said.

Soli, 38, of Philadelphia, was taken into custody after a young woman staying with him at the motel called police. Homicide Detective Jimmy Beall said.

Beall said Soli, a convicted drug user with at least 50 arrests, was charged with murder.

Knight, 30, grandson of John S. Knight, editorial chairman of the Knight-Ridder newspaper chain, was stabbed to death during an apparent robbery at his Philadelphia apartment Dec. 7.

Soli was one of three suspects in the killing. One turned himself over to authorities last week, and a second was found shot to death.

Police in Philadelphia said they would try to return Soli to Pennsylvania today.

Beall said Soli was arrested at 11:30 p.m. at the Southwind Motel, about a mile from downtown Miami. He was not armed and offered no resistance.

The detective said Soli had bleached his hair strawberry blonde and had shaved off his moustache.

Arthur Treacher, movie butler, dies

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur Treacher, the British-born actor who portrayed the archtypical butler on stage, screen and television, is dead at the age of 81.

Treacher died Sunday at North Shore University Hospital here after being admitted several days ago suffering from a heart ailment.

For almost all of his 60 movies, plus stage and television appearances, Treacher played the stereotype, crusty butler who had to endure the gaucheries of his employers.

He became typecast in the role by accident in 1933 when he was playing a conventional, and polite butler in a minor role in a film with Jimmy Durante.

One day, Lupe Velez, known as the "Mexican Spitfire" visited the set told the 6-foot-3 actor she had a boyfriend as tall as he.

Unimpressed, Treacher replied: "Really?" The director took note, said, "play the part like that" and a character was born.

Born in Brighton on July 23, 1894, the son of a lawyer, Treacher, whose real name was Arthur Veary, made his acting debut at the age of 25 as a chorus boy in London.

After making his first appearance in this country in a revue "Great

ARTHUR TREACHER

Temptations," Treacher appeared in such plays as "The Madcap," "The Silent House," "The School for Scandal," and "Panama Hattie."

In recent years, Treacher had lent his name to a chain of fish and chips eateries.

Lebanon fighting continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The war for Beirut's seaside hotels raged on today despite a new truce pledge from Moslem leftists and their right-wing Christian enemies.

Machine-gun fire and rocket grenades flew through the downtown area several hours after the ceasefire — the 15th in Lebanon's eight-month-old civil war — was scheduled to go into effect.

Red-bereted troops from the Palestinian Armed Struggle Command moved in to try to help enforce the accord. But casualties from continued sniping angered the street fighters, and they resumed firing.

Moslem gunmen in the 40-story Mour office tower peppered the Christians in the besieged Holiday Inn with 50-caliber machine-gun bullets and rocket fire.

Militiamen of the right-wing Christian Phalange Party fired back from the 25-story Holiday Inn and from positions around the Moslem-held Jewish Quarter, Wadi al-Yahoud.

There were no signs of the pullback called for by the truce agreement.

Cold air spreads

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dropped nearly 50 degrees between daytime yesterday and early this morning from the middle Mississippi valley to the southwestern plains. And very cold air continued to spread across the Midwest and South.

Arctic air that invaded the northern U.S. during the weekend is still pushing to the south and east and now has reached as far south as central Texas.

Temperatures in northwest Texas plunged into the teens and 20s. Sub-zero readings were common across the Dakotas, Minnesota and Nebraska. Northerly winds, gusting up to 30 miles per hour, added to the chill. There was a variety of precipitation. Light snow fell during the night from Upper Michigan into eastern Kansas, and some freezing rain and sleet was noted from central Oklahoma to southwest Missouri. Showers and a few thunderstorms occurred from the remainder of the Great Lakes region into Arkansas and southeast Oklahoma.

Travelers advisories were in effect through today for parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Unseasonably mild temperatures continue east of the cold front, with partly cloudy skies prevailing.

The Southwest was clear and rather cold.

Prison and parole mess: who's running the show?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of a five-part series on the prison and parole systems in California, tracing their origins, scandals, reform and how it came to be that the prison population is being reduced by nearly 1,000 each month under a policy instituted this year by the state Department of Corrections, the Adult Authority and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.)

By STATE SEN. H. L. (BILL) RICHARDSON and TONY CIMARUSTI

We often ask these days who is running the prisons — the state officials who are supposed to, or the convicts? Unfortunately, sometimes we have to believe it's the convicts.

Inmates historically have looked for ways to make things easier for themselves, and it would violate human nature were that not true.

But it took about 40 years from the beginning of the state's prisons system for the prisoners to begin urging that parole be instituted in California.

San Quentin convicts were the moving force in the introduction of parole in this state, having heard about the nation's first parole law passed in Ohio in 1884.

By 1893, California had a similar law on the books.

Parole began with judicious restraint. A prisoner had to secure unanimous endorsement of his parole application from a committee of prison officers.

The prison officials had to be convinced that the convict would be employed and what was described by the prison director as a "searching inquisition" was made into his history and family.

In every case, there was communication with the judge who presided at the trial and the district attorney who handled the prosecution.

Again, in the words of the prison director, "if, after favorable recommendation and careful deliberation and a personal interview with the prisoner, we conclude that it will be to the best interest of society to parole the prisoner, we require the fulfillment of conditions that will assure his leading an honest, industrious and useful life."

What a change we've had in 80 years!

When an application for parole was denied, the prisoner had to wait another year, which further helped in the protection of society.

In other words, parole was not then considered to be a "basic right" of each convict. It was something he or she had to earn. Each convict had to sign a contract, agreeing to live by the terms of the parole, and if the terms were not met, return to the confinement of the prison walls was swift.

From the four parolees in 1894, the number went to 200 in 1910. Still, the 10 per cent returned as violators mostly involved technical infractions, nor further criminal activity as we have today.

However, it wasn't long before there were indications of things to come.

By the end of 1919, the total state prison population had risen to 2,921, with only 2,000 cells — 800 at Folsom and 1,200 at San Quentin.

By 1924, the same number of cells was being used to house 4,400 inmates. The improved "Hen-House" for female prisoners at San Quentin was designed for 25 inmates, but housed 53.

Without getting so technical that I must give a complete description of the circulatory system and the function of the heart, let me simply ask you to observe that when the muscles in the walls of the blood vessels are generally too relaxed, the circulation of nutrition bearing blood to the cells is slowed too much. Some call it sluggish circulation. I used the term "lazy blood vessels."

I would like to call your attention to a statement by Loyola University's Physiology specialist, Dr. William Zoethout: "In order that the tissues may be adequately supplied with nourishment and at the least expenditure of energy, a close correlation must exist between the nervous mechanism governing the heart and that controlling the size of the blood vessels."

Certainly then an upset in that nerve mechanism of tissue nutrition is an important factor in that "always tired" feeling.

I mentioned two reasons for that "always tired" feeling. The second is Unrelaxed sleep.

To feel fully refreshed and equal to the next day's tasks, one must be fully relaxed in sleep.

I could go on at some length but suffice it to say, the person who's always tired would probably get pretty bored over medical fact and supposition.

He's tired, he "runs out of gas" easily, he plops in a sofa when he gets home can hardly force himself to pay attention to his family and job.

So I ask that he . . . or she . . . remember just one thing. Being "too pooped to pop" is not normal. Chances are that it is a condition that won't clear itself up, nor will energy pills and additives clear up the cause of the problem. I've had many patients drag themselves into my care. Frankly, it peps me up to see them swing back into stride.

HEALTH NEWS . . .

RESTLESS IN SLEEP—TIRED TOMORROW?

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

There seems to be a growing group of people who complain they are "always tired." What is the answer to this beguiling problem? Before I answer let me say that if you have the impression that the "always tired" feeling is always the result of a deficiency of some important substance in the blood, that impression may well be wrong.

I don't care what that commercial says. There are other possible causes and it is two of them that I would ask you to give some thought.

Consider "lazy blood vessels." Should I drop a cork in a narrow stream where there is a fast current, the cork will float rapidly. Should that stream bed suddenly widen to a pond, the cork will float lazily along.

Now if that cork were a blood corpuscle in the blood stream, carrying oxygen to some needy cell, or if it were a particle of nutrition for that cell, you can imagine what would happen. The cell would tire before it received its nutrition.

Without getting so technical that I must give a complete description of the circulatory system and the function of the heart, let me simply ask you to observe that when the muscles in the walls of the blood vessels are generally too relaxed, the circulation of nutrition bearing blood to the cells is slowed too much. Some call it sluggish circulation. I used the term "lazy blood vessels."

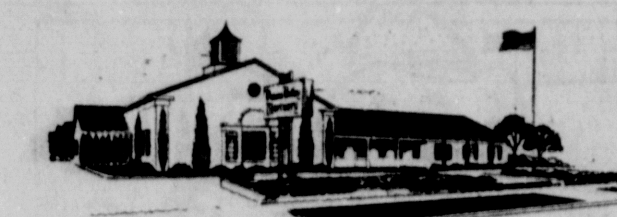

I would like to call your attention to a statement by Loyola University's Physiology specialist,

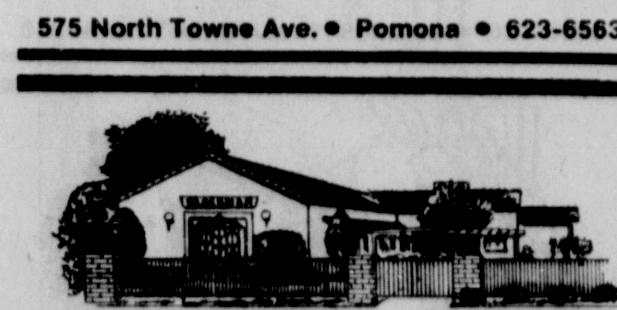

Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

$80,000 yacht burns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 55-foot, $80,000 yacht burned and sank off Manhattan Beach on Sunday while its lone occupant paddled away on a life raft and was rescued unharmed by the Coast Guard, officers said.

John Wright told his rescuers he was taking the Louis D., a twin-engine cabin cruiser, from Marina del Rey to San Pedro for repairs when the boat began taking water. The engines died, he said, and the rising water shorted out wiring, which caused the fire.

A county lifeguard boat, meanwhile, spotted the flames and extinguished the blaze, but the Louis D. was about 98 per cent burned when it sank, officers said.

Mollusks

The largest mollusk shells ever found measured eight feet in diameter and belonged to the Nautiloidea, which lived some 400 million years ago.

The move to impeach Santa Claus

Chapter Six
By Robert J. Boyle

The blizzard had stopped as North Pole One approached Kennedy airport in New York.

"We'll be landing in three minutes," the elf pilot, Jumpin' Jack announced. "Fasten your seat belts."

The huge perppermint striped airplane got ground clearance and Jumpin' Jack made a perfect landing.

As Juniperperper and Jinkersnipes departed, he said to them, "lots of luck, fellows. We're all counting on you."

Julia June said, "Juniperperper, if you get busy tomorrow, I'll understand."

"Don't worry," Juniperperper said. "I won't be that busy. We'll go to the El Tora come heaven or high water."

The two elves left the plane and were welcomed by Ambassador D. Lightful Wynter, of Magic Forest, and Ambassador U.B. Fruitful, of Crystal Paradise.

"Welcome," they said. "You can count on us for any support of Santa."

Juniperperper thanked them and said, "Do you

"I think I like it better in the dormitory!"

"Yes, you're right," Jinkersnipes replied.

"I think I like it better in the dormitory where we have friends and laughter," Juniperperper said. "This may look great and the beds are comfortable but I miss my friends."

"So do I," Jinkersnipes replied.

"I'll be happy to get back to the North Pole," Juniperperper said.

"It won't be too long," Jinkersnipes said. "But even five minutes away from the North Pole seems like a year."

"Hey, we're sounding homesick," Juniperperper replied. "Let's get busy and we'll keep our minds off the North Pole. We should study our legal briefs so we're all set for tomorrow."

"I thought you had a secret plan to win the case without any problems," Jinkersnipes said.

"Oh, oh," Juniperperper said. "I only said that to make people feel good. I don't really have any secret plan."

"My, oh my and my," Jinkersnipes replied. "Then we better get busy."

For the rest of the afternoon, the two elves kept their noses in law books.

At 5 p.m., Juniperperper said, "Well, Jinkersnipes, we better get ready to go out to eat."

The two elves bathed, combed their hair and put on their best elf suits.

They took a taxi to the Pink Plaza where Julia June was staying.

When she saw both elves coming into the lobby she smiled and said, "Well, two handsome elves." She winked at Juniperperper.

"We had no date and would have been in that lonesome hotel room by ourselves," Juniperperper said. "Would you like to have dinner with us?"

"Love to," she replied. "We'll all have fun."

Juniperperper's heart skipped a beat when he realized how understanding Julia June was.

The three elves went to the Circus on the Round Square for dinner and then attended the Broadway show, Fiddler on the Hot Tin Roof.

After the show they took Julia June back to her hotel.

"I had a wonderful evening, boys," she said as she kissed both elves.

"I'll call you tomorrow," Juniperperper said, not realizing that his tomorrow would be terribly, terribly busy.

Firms using lie detectors for hiring

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Lie detector tests are being used by a relatively small number of Fresno businesses to help screen job applicants.

Those using the tests are many small businessmen being hurt by employee thefts and searching for a way to solve the problem, according to Mel Cheney, operator of a Fresno lie detector company. He reports among his clients are service stations, janitorial services, convenience stores, truck stops, restaurants, inventory services and liquor stores.

Progress in arms pact noted

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The North Atlantic allies decided Friday to propose withdrawal of 1,000 nuclear weapons from Central Europe if the Soviets will take home an army of tanks from the same area.

The F4 planes and Pershing missiles that can deliver the tactical warheads would go with them. The withdrawal would leave some 6,200 American warheads on the spot.

The offer was sponsored by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is also trying for an agreement with Moscow on limiting the bigger intercontinental nuclear weapons. Kissinger is due in Moscow next month to seek a breakthrough in those negotiations.

He reported to the North Atlantic Council, made up of NATO foreign ministers, on his progress so far. They said they were satisfied with the "substantial progress" made.

Huge burger tops record

NEW YORK (AP) — An Italian bakery here created a record-size bun for the gigantic hamburger featured at the Salute to The Booth Theater and the New York Shakespeare Festival Season.

The bun measured 4 by 8 feet, weighed 250 pounds and it took five men to lift it. The "innards," supplied by a theatrical restaurant, weighed 300 pounds and there was enough hamburger to feed 3,000 hamburger lovers.

The hamburger was 320 pounds heavier than the previous record holder, listed in the Guinness Book of Records at 230 pounds.

have any idea how the vote will go?"

"It is too early to tell," D. Lightful Wynter replied. "But I feel most of the ambassadors are on Santa's side. They all like Christmas."

"That's good," Jinkersnipes said. "What time does the case begin?"

"Promptly at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow," U.B. Fruitful replied.

The ambassadors escorted Juniperperper and Jinkersnipes to their hotel. "The Lily Palms" right off Central Park.

The bellhop who took their bags said, "Lots of luck. I don't know what we would do without Christmas. Tips, you know, are bigger during the Christmas season."

Juniperperper laughed and replied, "Well, that really isn't the reason for Christmas but I guess I can't blame you for wanting bigger tips."

The room clerk greeted the two elves with "Welcome, gentlemen, we have the ambassador's suite ready for you. My name is Hugh Bedder and I'm at your service. Anything you need, just ask me and I'll see that you get it. The Lily Palms is at your service. And, confidentially, I certainly hope you win your case. Santa is one of my favorite persons."

"Thank you," Juniperperper said as he signed the register.

The elves were taken to their room and were flabbergasted.

"Boy, this sure beats living in a dormitory at the North Pole," Jinkersnipes said as he viewed the suite of rooms.

Two huge double beds, with down mattresses and pillows were equipped with ladders so the elves could climb into them. The living room had color TV, a pantry filled with all types of food, sodas, and milk to drink.

"This really is something," Juniperperper said. "I never had a place like this before."

Jinkersnipes suggested, "Let's take a rest until dinner."

"Good idea," Juniperperper replied.

The elves unpacked their suitcases and then climbed into their beds.

Quiet descended over the suite.

For 15 or 20 minutes the elves remained quiet.

"You know it is too quiet in here," Juniperperper said.

*The above figures assume that you contribute $1,500 each year with no withdrawals and that your money earns 7.5% annual interest, the current maximum rate of interest allowed by law.

Give yourself a tax break. In addition to building a substantial nest egg, the Security Retirement Plan also allows you a considerable reduction in your current Federal income tax payments. The plan also allows you to defer paying taxes on the interest you earn.

How to make your savings snowball. Each year, you can put aside up to $1500 or 15% of your annual compensation for personal services — whichever is less — into your Security Retirement Plan. Save as much or as little as you wish.

Your savings accumulate and grow from the day of deposit. When they total $1000, you can have your money automatically invested in a Maxi-Growth Account, where it earns the highest interest rates permitted by law from the day we invest it.

What's so special about the Security Retirement Plan. It's flexible. Choose from two options: The Maxi-Growth or the Do-It-Yourself Plan.

Formula for family

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband and I are just starting to raise our family and now it seems we spend most of our time together talking about what's wrong with our families' children. We want to avoid the mistakes we feel they've made that make life difficult for them as well as for their children.

My sister's two children were both awful about going to school and it took them almost a year to get over the shock. We feel that they probably lost a lot of important time. One child in my husband's family is never disciplined and those on my side of the family seem to be disciplined too much. I know there's no pat formula that will insure happy, healthy children, but if you have any clues, could you send them our way? — R.Y.

Dear R.Y.: I think you and your husband are doing one of the most important things for your family right now. You're planning, talking and giving serious thought to the problems that might arise. Certainly, no matter how much you plan, there will always be unexpected problems, but the preparation you make now will be invaluable for the future.

Of course, love is the most important ingredient. Some parents love their children, but are afraid or unable to communicate or express these feelings. Physical affection and body touching, fondling and caress-ing are extremely important. Some studies indicate that emotional unbalance, and violent, aggressive behavior are related to a lack of body touching in childhood.

Having both parents in the home is also most important.

Dr. Jackson Smith, chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology at Loyola University in Chicago, points out that children in families of the very rich and the very poor are often unhappy for the same reason: the parent is not there. The poor mother works when the baby is very young and the rich parent is busy elsewhere. If it is at all possible, either the mother or father should be with the child during the first three years of his life. After this time, arrangements can be made for the working mother. However, the child who has his mother during this time has a distinct advantage in life.

All children need discipline and constructive criticism because they are signs of caring and of love. Children also need the guidance of a concerned adult. Parents who resign themselves to uncritical acceptance of their children's attitudes and actions, without standing up for their own beliefs and values, deprive their offspring of a needed standard for measurement. Parents should avoid physical discipline and rely on rewards. When necessary, they can deprive a child of privileges. Before doing this, however, they should make sure that the child understands why he is being punished and why the privilege is being withheld.

With proper preparation in the first place a child won't be afraid to start school. Parents can begin by getting the child used to being away from them for short periods of time. This can be done by allowing him to stay overnight or to spend a day with friends and by making school sound like a wonderful, exciting place to be.

Be positive, and prepare your children for a healthy, fulfilling experience. Don't teach them too much in advance, for this can make them either bored or anxious. Sometimes, children's fear of school comes from the parents, who fear losing them.

Most of all, relax and enjoy your children. I'm sure you will. Remember, each one is an individual and there's really no way to compare them to those of your in-laws, to those of your neighbors, or even to each other.

U.S. jealousy bars Concorde landing, French builders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The French builders of the Concorde say benefits of the supersonic transport would "far outweigh" its environmental impact and hint jealousy might be hindering efforts to have the plane land here.

In a news conference Wednesday, representatives of Aerospatiale, the French company which jointly with the British built the aircraft, de-

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

A vacuum cleaner is a machine for removing dust and dirt from carpets, rugs and other furnishings to help keep the home neat and clean.

It does its work with a suction fan driven by an electric motor. When the current is switched on, the fan makes a partial vacuum (a space where there is little air) within the cleaner, which is being continually filled by the rushing air. The machine gets its name from this.

At the same time, a stiff, revolving brush helps to loosen dirt in the carpet. The powerful rush of air created by the cleaner picks up dust and dirt as the air is drawn through the carpet material and carries it to a bag attached to the cleaner.

The bag is made of a material which permits air to pass through but not the dirt, which is deposited in the bag.

The first motor-driven vacuum cleaners were known as "pneumatic carpet renovators." The vacuum cleaner was invented in 1899.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Shaw Author has bestseller

LOS ANGELES (AP) — He still has the heft of a football quarterback, which he once was at Brooklyn College. He seems to have "legs like a Namath" from dozens of tumbles on Swiss ski slopes.

He is a survivor, this Lewin Shaw, a man who has endured the slings and arrows of Broadway politics, the betrayals and backbites of Hollywood producers, plus the multitude of other hazards for 20th Century writers. He not only survives but thrives, his latest novel, "Nightwork," rapidly climbing up the bestseller lists.

That is not unknown territory for Shaw. He made it there with "The Young Lions" and has repeated over the years with "Two Weeks in Another Town," "Lucy Brown," "Rich Man, Poor Man," "Evening in Byzantium," etc.

"I've never had such unanimous reviews as I have had on 'Nightwork' — except for my books of short stories," Shaw remarked wonderingly.

Even after the first flush of "The Young Lions" there was sniping. I remember the critic Alfred Kazin attacked it and Norman Mailer's "The Naked and the Dead" under the title "The Mindless Militants."

Shaw was back in his old

Hollywood haunts on a leave from his Paris apartment and Klosters chalet.

"I used to be a playwright, and after every flop I had to rush out here to make some money." He remembered one assignment with pleasure — the 1942 George Stevens film, "Talk of the Town," with Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman. But the rest of his movie work remains a bad memory.

"I wrote good scripts — the best I knew how," he said. "But by the time they went through the grinder, I couldn't recognize them. My last job was 'War and Peace' for the Italians (in 1956). King Vidor, who was directing it, rewrote the script with his wife. I asked him if he didn't like my script. He said he did, but he liked theirs better. That's when I quit writing movies."

He also was unemployed during the Red hunts of the 1950s. "I was never a Communist, but I had supported the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War," he said. "That, plus working with the Group Theater was enough to put me on the blacklist."

Shaw took up residence in Europe, became an inveterate skier and began turning out bestsellers. Several have become movies, and "Rich Man, Poor Man" has been filmed by Universal.

TIME WILL TELL — Actress Ingrid Bergman (Ingrid Bergman?) plays an old woman in the movie, "A Matter of Time," now filming in Rome, Italy. The film also stars Liza Minnelli and is directed by Liza's father, Vincente Minnelli. It is their first film together.

Gamble flies planes, operates marionettes

By DICK KLEINER
LOS ANGELES — (NEA) — Not all of America's entertainers are household names. Some of the best move in relatively small circles, make a good living, but are not known outside their own particular areas.

Jim Gamble is a case in point. Gamble is a puppeteer who is very successful at it. He averages some 450 shows a year — last year, he gave his show 125 times between Thanksgiving and Christmas — and does well financially.

But he's never been on television, has never appeared on film, never works on a stage. He just piles in his car a selection of more than 700 marionettes he's built and goes off. He entertains at birthday parties, shopping centers, small functions.

Gamble did do his show for a crowd of 75,000 once — when he worked the half-time show at the Cotton Bowl, between Texas and Oklahoma some years back. And he has performed for 5,000 Vietnamese refugees in a camp in Guam.

He manages to get around to places like Guam because, when he isn't a puppeteer, he's an airline pilot, for Continental Airlines. Flying an average of three days a week, he's left with the rest of the time for performing.

Gamble grew up in East Texas and his twin loves — aviation and marionettes — grew right along with him. As a boy, fascinated by flying, he built model airplanes. Then he read an article on puppets and, using his model building skills, built a puppet.

Puppets helped finance his college education — and he wound up with a bachelor's degree in aerospace engineering and a master's degree in aerospace management.

Then he became a pilot in the Air Force. And he was faced with a difficult career decision.

"I wanted to be a puppeteer," he says, "but I never heard of a well-to-do puppeteer and I knew pilots made a lot of money. So I decided to try and combine the two professions. It's turned out to be an ideal combination."

Now Gamble can use his mechanical engineering skills to make his puppets.

DANCING BONES — This skeleton is just one of the 700 marionettes and puppets made and operated by Texas-born Jim Gamble, who has combined the careers of a puppeteer and a pilot.

Dixie

Several possible origins have been suggested for the name "Dixie", associated with the U.S. southern states. Because of the French word for 10 "dix" — printed on $10 bills in early Louisiana, that state became known as "Dix's Land" or "Land of the dixies". Other possible derivations are from "Mason-Dixon Line" and the name of a kind-hearted Dutch farmer, Dixie, in New York whose slaves, when sold to a southern plantation in the 1700s, sang of their longing to return to Dixie's farm.

An historian and the first American woman to become a professional writer was Hannah Adams (1755-1831).

Rams now worry about injuries

Reserves help beat Packers

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — Chuck Knox's biggest worry right now is how much of a team he'll have left when the NFL playoffs begin.

Jim Bertelsen, the shifty halfback, became the fifth Ram starter to go down for the season Sunday as the Rams defeated Green Bay, 22-5 before 59,312 (There were 7,184 no-shows).

Bertelsen was hurt in the second quarter. He suffered ligament damage and was to be operated on today.

Quarterback James Harris departed early in the first quarter. Harris' arm had apparently started bothering him during the week. It stiffened during the pre-game drills and he left after throwing only two passes, completing one for two yards and being intercepted once.

Offensive tackle Charlie Cowan twisted an ankle and also left the game for good in a depressing first quarter. The status of both Harris and Cowan is uncertain and no one is saying anything more than is necessary.

Ron Jaworski took over for Harris and completed 14 of 24 passes for 174 yards with one interception.

Rob Scribner had his best day as a pro taking over for Bertelsen. The former UCLA quarterback was the games leading ground gainer with 82 yards and a touchdown on 12 carries. He also caught two passes for 28 yards.

Doug France, the massive rookie from Ohio St., took Cowans place and performed acceptably.

Guard Tom Mack was shaken up for awhile. Another rookie, Dennis Harrah also performed acceptably.

Game balls were awarded to Scribner, Jaworski and Cody Jones. Jones is the third defensive right tackle the Rams have used as a starter this year. Larry Brooks and backup Bill Nelson both went down the same game with left knee injuries which required surgery.

Now the Rams have only five days to prepare for the awesome Pittsburgh Steelers which come in for a night game (6 p.m.) Saturday. They have less than two weeks to prepare for the playoffs which begin either Dec. 27 or 28 (a week from Saturday or Sunday) when the Rams host the St. Louis Cardinals.

Naturally the first person sought out by the media after the game was team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan.

"Harris has been taking cortisone and other anti-inflammatory treatments. His shoulder started stiffening Wednesday, but we thought he could start today. The reason it stiffened is the bumps and bruises he has from being hit so much. You can't pinpoint any one thing. Right now there's no reason to believe he can't play next week. Cowan has a swollen ankle but probably can play against the Steelers."

The Rams apparently knew Harris would be unable to play much and started him as a matter of form.

"This morning I knew I was going to play," Jaworski said. "I wasn't worried or nervous a bit. I'm just glad I got to play when we won. Last year I played against Washington and we lost. This year I played against Dallas and we lost."

In both games, Jaworski did not come in until the second half. He entered Sunday's game and on the second offensive series ended up getting sacked in the end zone for a safety.

"I just forget which end zone we were going to," he quipped.

Harris, understandably, was a somber figure.

"I really don't think it's serious," he said. "I could have played, but we had an understanding that if I didn't feel good on the first series, I would come out. I hope I can play against Pittsburgh but I don't know. I could throw the ball today but I had nothing on it."

Scribner, one of the game's better all-purpose players, was his usual modest, devoutly religious self.

"I'm glad I have the opportunity to play now," he said. "I know I can do the job. But there's no back in the NFL with the exception of O.J. (Simpson) who can make the plays himself. Everything was there today... the blocking from Mack, (Joe) Scibelli and (Lawrence) McCutcheon. But I have to give credit to the Lord Jesus Christ."

The game itself was one of those typical Ram games... the defense won it. The score was actually defense 12, offense 10 and Packers 5.

Ram defenders set up a field goal and touchdown in the second quarter (the only Ram scores in a 9-5 first half). They set up another field goal in the fourth quarter.

After the Packers had added a 48-yard field goal by rookie Joe Danelo nine seconds into the second quarter, they were through scoring for the day.

Bill Simpson intercepted a John Hadl pass at the Rams 39. The Angelinos moved 21 yards in five plays to position Tom Dempsey for a 40-yard field goal to make it 5-3.

The next time they got the ball Dempsey missed a 35-yard attempt after the Rams had driven from their own 20.

However Isiah Robertson and Dave Elmendorf hit rookie running back Willard Harrell so hard they forced a Packer fumble. Simpson was right there to pick it up and return it four yards to the Green Bay 14.

Jaworski carried once for three yards himself. Scribner did the rest. The former Bruin gained eight yards around right end and three around left end for the TD. But Dempsey inexplicably missed the PAT.

The only score of the third quarter was a 38-yard field goal by Dempsey after the second half kickoff. Jaworski took the Rams 28 yards in

Miracle Colts drive towards coveted berth in playoffs

By Associated Press

It was a drive that typified Baltimore's entire season. It was a long, long one, filled with a few clutch plays and a few bizarre plays—and it was a successful one.

"I knew we had a long way to go," Coach Ted Marchibroda said Sunday after his miracle Colts, buried on their own four-yard line in overtime, clawed their way across the field and into position for Toni Linhart's sudden-death 31-yard field goal that beat Miami 10-7.

"That's the kind of team we have," Marchibroda said of his scrappy band of Cinderellas, who have risen from a disastrous 2-12 National Football League season in 1974 to 9-4, within one victory of a divisional championship and playoff berth in 1975. "They've been doing what they've had to do all season long."

And he called the triumph "without a doubt the greatest I've ever had—all the way back to high school."

The victory threw first place in the American Conference's East Division into a flat-footed tie—but one in which the Colts have their best foot forward. Since they've beaten Miami in both meetings this year, all they need is another victory next Sunday against New England to take the title, regardless of what the Dolphins do Saturday against Denver.

"The Colts deserved to win," Miami Coach Don Shula said matter-of-factly. "They had what it took in the overtime and came up with big plays during the final drive. We had the opportunity to win throughout the game, but we couldn't come up with big plays."

In Sunday's other games, St. Louis locked up the National Conference East title and relegated division runner-up Dallas to the NFC wild-card spot with a 34-20 victory over Chicago. Los Angeles beat Green Bay 22-5, Houston edged Oakland 27-26, Detroit surprised Minnesota 17-10, Atlanta whipped San Francisco 31-9, Cleveland clobbered Kansas six plays for the first points for which the offense was entirely responsible.

Robertson intercepted a Hadl pass in the fourth quarter. The Rams had the ball at the Packer 37 and Jaworski took them down to the seven. But Scribner lost six, and Jaworski was sacked by Dave Purefory (Purefory's fifth sack).

So Dempsey was called in again with the ball at the 22 and kicked a 35-yard field goal.

The defense did not help the Rams get the ball the next series except that it limited the Pack to MINUS four yards in three downs forcing the visitors to punt.

In an excellent display of ball control, the Rams took 8:47 and 11 plays to drive 58 yards. John Cappelletti plunged the final two for a TD.

The Rams offense is exciting to few but Knox and his staff. It is a passing offense. With two of the strongest armed quarterbacks and two of the best receivers in the NFL, Knox prefers to throw mostly to the right sideline or left sideline.

Lakers' Superman is just that

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD — The Detroit Pistons didn't have Bob Lanier Sunday night. The Lakers had Superman.

Kareem Abdul Jabbar was just that. The Lakers center played 42 of a possible 48 minutes. He pulled down a career-high 34 rebounds, scored 27 points, blocked eight shots and had six assists as the Lakers won their 14th straight at home, 110-100.

The long, lean, lanky Laker connected on 11 of 17 shots from the floor and five of seven free throws. In the last four games, Jabbar has hit on 48 of 78 field goal attempts.

When asked about the 34 rebounds, Jabbar only shrugged. He did loosen up when asked if dribbling the ball the length of the court and scoring means anything special.

"It's different for a center," he said. "That's something they don't get a chance to do very often. I'm just like anybody else. Something like that thrills me."

While the team as a whole appeared to be flat, Jabbar certainly was not. Playing for the third night in a row, the big center appeared as fresh as though he'd had two days off.

"That's my job," he said. "That's what I get paid for. I like my job. I'm in good physical condition and," he added with a smile, "I don't have anything else to do. I don't have to go to school."

A sprained ankle kept Lanier out of the game. The Pistons lost both starting guards, John Mengelt and Kevin Porter with knee injuries in Oakland.

Thus it was a somewhat less than imposing group that faced the Lakers before about 3,000 less than the 11,484 who had purchased tickets.

The Pistons were short three inches and 25 pounds at center alone. Instead of the 6-11, 260-pound Lanier, 6-8, 235-pound Earl Williams was at center.

The guards were one-time Laker, 76er, Bullets and Sonic Archie Clark and Chris Ford. The forwards were Curtis Rowe and unrenowned Al Eberhard.

Nobody on the Pistons scored more than eight points in the first half. Despite playing uninspired ball the Lakers led 29-21 after one quarter and 59-50 at the half.

Lindsey Hairston, who had only five points, scored 15 in the second half to lead the visitors. Eberhard finished with 14 and Clark had 12.

Lucius Allen had 16 of his 22 in the first half. Gail Goodrich scored 12 of his 25 and Jabbar had 13.

The Lakers lazily extended their lead to 10 points, 85-75 and finished with the same margin.

"I'll take it," said Sherman. "But you can tell we were pretty flat. I think we kind of let down when we found Lanier wasn't going to play. Then we had that little 8-10-point lead. I think if we had been behind 3-4 points we'd have played together better."

Sharmar revealed that guard Donnie Freeman had been sick to his stomach for two days. Freeman played only six minutes and didn't score.

When asked why the Lakers usually play so well at home and poorly on the road, Sharmar said, "The league just has great balance this year. With Jabbar, we draw big crowds on the road. Other teams get up for us and we're not a physical team."

"I think when Kermit Washington returns he'll be a big help, especially on the road."

LAKE LEFTOVERS — Goodrich also had eight assists and eight rebounds.

Wilt Chamberlain holds the NBA record for rebounds in a single game, 51.

The Lakers now have won nine of their last 12 games and 13 of 16. A year ago they were 11-15 and tied for last place. Now they are 18-9 and only a game behind first place Golden State (17-6).

Add attendance: Even a celebrity basketball game at halftime failed to get the fans out. Teams featuring Walter Matthau, Flip Wilson, Julie Newmar, George Carlin, Ruth Buzzi, Don Knotts, Sally Struthers, Joe Campanella and Nanette Fabray played for charity. Referees were Peter Falk and Tom Poston.

Cazzie Russell (14 points) sank his only two free throws and now has made 33 of 34.

Former Uclan Curtis Rowe played in his 236th straight game.

The Lakers host Cleveland Tuesday (8 p.m.) then go on the road for three games. They play Atlanta Thursday, Chicago Friday and Cleveland Sunday. Only Friday night's game is on TV.

San Dimas hosts top cagers

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

The best talent in high school basketball makes its annual visit to the valley tonight thanks to San Dimas High.

San Dimas is putting on its fourth annual Tournament of Champions for a four-night run at Cal Poly's Kellogg Gym.

Action begins with a pair of first round games this evening followed by the second two first rounders Tuesday night, the semifinals Wednesday and the finals Thursday.

Again, tournament chairmen Bob Baiz and Jim Lough of San Dimas have assembled the best teams they could find for their prestigious event.

Included in the field are the top four rated teams in the CIF and the best in the City according to a pre-season poll.

Opening the action at 7 p.m. will be defending champion Verbum Dei vs. host San Dimas. At 8:30, top-seeded Long Beach Poly plays Gardena.

TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS

First round
Tonight's games
San Dimas vs. Verbum Dei, 7 p.m.
Gardena vs. Long Beach Poly, 8:30 p.m.
Tuesday's games
Pasadena vs. Santa Barbara, 7 p.m.
Workman vs. Dorsey, 8:30 p.m.
Wednesday's games
Consolation semifinals, 3 and 4:30 p.m.
Championship semifinals, 7 and 8:30 p.m.
Thursday's games
Consolation finals, 5:30 p.m.
Third place, 7 p.m.
Championship, 8:30 p.m.

Tuesday's pairings have Pasadena vs. Santa Barbara at 7 followed by Workman vs. Dorsey.

Long Beach Poly (4-0), Santa Barbara (3-0), Pasadena (5-0) and Verbum Dei (1-1) are the top four teams in the CIF while Dorsey is favored to win the Los Angeles City title.

An indication of the caliber of teams in the tournament is reflected in last week's results when Long Beach Poly, Pasadena and Santa Barbara won tournaments.

Long Beach Poly took top honors in the Beverly Hills Tournament by beating Marina, 60-56. Santa Barbara won the Righetti Tournament in Santa Maria by downing Lompoc, 60-47, and Pasadena grabbed the crown in the Bassett-Bishop Amat Tournament by defeating Mater Dei, 69-64.

Verbum Dei split its two games on a trip to Las Vegas.

Here's a look at the first round pairings:

Verbum Dei vs. San Dimas
VERBUM DEI — Coach John Sneed's Eagles are off a 29-1 season in which Verbum Dei's string of six consecutive CIF championships game to an end by Palos Verdes in the semifinals. Even though Verbum Dei graduated great talent, Sneed feels this year's team can be just as good despite not much size.

Marcus Hamilton (6-6) is the key man back this season. The Eagles will be aggressive on defense. Verbum Dei has won the past two Tournament of Champions titles.

SAN DIMAS — Coach Bob Espinoza's team plays out of its class in this tournament every year and this will certainly be no exception. The Saints are off to an 0-4 start as Espinoza tries to get things going. Mike Shepherd is an outside threat and guard Al Hanson is starting his third varsity season.

Long Beach Poly vs. Gardena
LONG BEACH POLY — The Jack-rabbits have four starters back from a 22-5 team and look like the team to beat in Southern California this season. Coach Ron Palmer has two All-CIF selections in forward-guard Johnny Nash (6-5) and center Michael Wiley (6-8). The other returning starters are James Hughes (6-4) and Clyde Johnson (6-3). Up from a championship junior varsity team are Manuel Johnson (6-8½) and Tony Gwynn (5-11).

GARDENA — Gardena and Dorsey are the first Los Angeles city schools to play in the tournament. The Mohicans have high scoring capabilities in Rickie Wayne (6-5) and Arthur Hill (6-5). Tony Burrell (6-4) is an outstanding outside shooter.

Pasadena vs. Santa Barbara.
PASADENA — Like Verbum Dei, Pasadena is making its fourth appearance in the tournament and Coach George Terzian is optimistic about his team's chances. The Bulldogs' Keith Hood (6-2) was named the MVP in the Bassett-Amat Tournament while Michael Anderson (6-4) earned All-Tournament honors. Guard Dave Davis set a San Dimas T of C record last year for three throws making 19 of 21.

SANTA BARBARA — The Dons are coming off a 24-2 season. Coach Jack Trigueiro feels he has a better team than the one which featured Keith Wilkes and Don Ford. Guard Ed White (6-4) was selected the MVP at the Righetti Tournament. Other key players are James Hunter (6-4) and Steve Crandell (6-6).

Workman vs. Dorsey
WORKMAN — The Lobos figure to win the Montview League title and be one of the top 2-A teams. Coach Rich Skelton's team took third place in the Bassett-Amat Tournament. Junior center David McGuire is the tallest player in the tournament at 7-0. Teammate Billy Morales (6-0) made the All-Tournament team at Amat.

DORSEY — All-American James Wilkes (6-8) led the Dons to a 24-1 season last year. He is joined this season by Danny Ramsey (6-7), a transfer from Mt. Carmel High. Another returning starter is Ron Baxter (6-4). Dorsey won the Watts Summer Games title by beating Long Beach Poly and Verbum Dei.

Ticket prices are $1.50 for adults, $1 for students with ASB cards and 75 cents for children under 12.

While San Dimas is hosting the cream of the crop, the valley's other prep teams will also be busy this week in tournaments from Laguna Beach to Alhambra.

Ganesha and Damien open play today in the Alhambra Tournament. Ganesha was slated to play Bell Gardens in a 3 p.m. game while Damien faces South Hills at 4:45.

Garey, fresh from its championship in the Upland-Montclair Tournament, will play Loyola in the 6 p.m. game Tuesday at the Laguna Beach Tournament. Walnut plays Esperanza in the 4:30 game at Laguna.

Two more tournaments open Wednesday.

Claremont begins things in the Azusa Tournament by playing Gladstone at 3:15 followed by Montclair vs. Royal Oak at 5. Meanwhile, Bonita will play Neff at 5 Wednesday in the Edgewood Tournament followed by Chino vs. West Covina at 7.

Other tournament action has Upland traveling to Ramona, Ontario Christian to Notre Dame in Riverside and La Verne Lutheran to Huntington Valley Christian.

Flames once couldn't put puck in Lake Erie

By The Associated Press
 The Atlanta Flames could have finally put the puck into Lake Erie, but they chose the Buffalo net instead.

"We played well earlier in the season but couldn't put the puck into Lake Erie," said Atlanta Coach Fred Creighton. "Now the goals are coming quicker and easier."

With their old nemesis, Lake Erie, just around the corner, the Flames chose to attack the Buffalo net Sunday night and came away with a 7-4 National Hockey League victory over the Sabres.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Toronto slapped the New York Rangers 6-1; Boston edged Vancouver 3-2; Montreal tripped Pittsburgh 7-4; Washington and Minnesota skated to a 4-4 tie, and St. Louis nipped Chicago 4-3.

Larry Romanchuk scored three successive goals in the third period to help extend the Flames unbeaten streak to five games. Bill Flett, whose first goal of the game broke a 2-2 tie with 33 seconds left in the second

UCLA back in action tonight

LOS ANGELES — After a week off because of final exams, UCLA's basketball team returns to the floor tonight to host surprising San Diego State at Pauley Pavilion.

The Aztecs bring a 2-3 record into tonight's game but it is deceiving.

Coach Tim Vezie's team has been on the road for all five games.

San Diego proved its strength when it rallied from a 79-66 deficit with 2:47 left to upset Purdue, 81-79, on the Boilermakers' court last week.

Since then, the Aztecs defeated Nevada Reno, 86-65, and lost to host Utah, 98-89, in the Utah Classic. Previous losses were to Washington State (86-81) and Idaho State (73-65).

One of San Diego's top players is forward Bob Kovach (6-6), the former Fontana High and Chaffey College star. Kovach made the All-Tournament team at Utah.

This will be a busy week for UCLA. The Bruins (2-1) will host Missouri Thursday night followed by Seattle Saturday night.

Coach Gene Bartow said he will go with a starting lineup of forwards Marques Johnson and Richard Drollinger and guards Andre McCarter and Brad Holland.

USC (5-1) returns to action at the Sports Arena Friday night against Howard University and Saturday afternoon (3 p.m.) against Colorado.

The Trojans split their weekend games. Oral Roberts posted an 83-80 upset on Friday but USC recovered to beat Illinois, 62-58, Saturday.

In both games, USC had problems protecting a lead.

"It seems like when we have the opponent on the ropes and they make one last gasp, we don't seem to take up the challenge," Coach Bob Boyd said. "We're not responding to their intensity. It's a tough thing to crack."

In other west coast action, the University of San Francisco enjoyed a bit of revenge in Honolulu Saturday night when James Hardy hit a jump shot with one second remaining in the second overtime to give the Dons a 105-103 win over Hawaii.

The Dons lost to Hawaii, 81-80, Friday night. USF is now 5-1 for the season.

Maple Leafs 6, Rangers 1

Errol Thompson scored second-period goals just 22 seconds apart and set up a third-period goal as Toronto ended a 10-game winless streak.

The loss ended the Rangers' unbeaten streak at seven and their unbeaten home streak against Toronto at 13.

Capital 4, North Stars 4

Stan Gilbertson's second goal of the night gave Washington a 4-3 lead at 3:29 of the third period but Minnesota's Blake Dunlop scored at 15:11 to forge the tie.

Blues 4, Black Hawks 3

Garry Unger scored two goals and assisted on two others to give interim Coach Lynn Patrick a St. Louis victory in his return to the coaching ranks.

Patrick, the Blues first coach in 1967, replaced Garry Young 45 minutes before Sunday night's game.

Early in the third period, Unger fed Jerry Butler, who shot the puck past Hawks goalie Tony Esposito to break a 3-3 tie.

Bruins 3, Canucks 2

Andre Savard's pass bounced in off teammate Bobby Schumatz with 32 seconds remaining to lift Boston past Vancouver and bring the Bruins within four points of first-place Buffalo in the NHL's Adams Division.

Rookie Rick Blight had tied the game for Vancouver with his second power play goal of the night earlier in the period.

Steelers 35, Bengals 14

Franco Harris rushed for 118 yards and a pair of touchdowns and Terry Bradshaw passed for one and ran for another in Pittsburgh's Saturday rout of Cincinnati. "We're liable to see the Bengals again," said Steelers Coach Chuck Noll, looking ahead to the playoffs. "We'll let fate handle it. She's been pretty good to us."

Broncos 25, Eagles 10

Denver's Floyd Little, playing at home for the final time in his brilliant nine-year pro career, raced 66 yards with a third-quarter screen pass and ran for another touchdown in the closing minutes to carry the Broncos past Philadelphia.

Bills 34, Patriots 14

O.J. Simpson ran for 185 yards and scored his 21st touchdown of the season while Jim Braxton plunged for a pair of scores to lead Buffalo over the Patriots. Simpson surpassed the 8,000-yard mark in career rushing and has 1,760 for the year.

Giants 28, Saints 14

Randy Colbert's 65-yard punt return for a touchdown, Doug Kotar's 46-yard run for another score and Craig Morton's 45-yard TD pass to Ray Rhodes boosted the Giants past New Orleans.

Houck joins USC's staff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hudson Houck, the offensive line coach for Stanford University the last four years, was hired Friday as an assistant to the University of Southern California's new Coach John Robinson.

Houck becomes the new offensive coordinator for Robinson and the first addition to his staff.

Robinson was named to replace John McKay a month ago after McKay announced he was leaving for the head coaching job of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League.

Houck, 32, played and coached at USC, where he was a reserve center on the Trojans' 1962 national championship team.

Memphis in NFL?

MEMPHIS (AP) — John Bassett, owner of the Memphis Southmen of the defunct World Football League, said Friday he will meet in New York Wednesday with National Football League officials to discuss his team's application for league membership.

Bassett, a Toronto millionaire, said he will be talking to the NFL's expansion committee.

ALMOST A BIRDIE — JoAnne Carner bends to her knees as she just misses a 30 foot birdie putt Sunday in Colgate Triple Crown.

Blalock's short putt wraps up golf crown

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jane Blalock walloped her drives off the tee, but it was a 20-foot putt that wrapped up her victory in the $50,000 Triple Crown Women's Golf Tournament.

"Believe it or not, today my drives were my best feature," Miss Blalock said Sunday after sinking a birdie on the first hole of a three-way sudden-death playoff to capture the $15,000 first prize. "And I'm not known as a long-ball hitter."

At the end of the regulation 36 holes, Miss Blalock, of Highland Beach, Fla., was tied at 142 with JoAnne Carner, the first round leader with a 70, and Judy Rankin.

They went to the 16th hole of the Mission Hills Country Club course for the sudden death. Mrs. Rankin and Mrs. Carner had taken their third shots on the par-four hole when Miss Blalock sank her 20-footer for a birdie that ended the contest.

"I got a little bit lucky on the last few holes," Miss Blalock said. "I had to be a real scrambler today."

Mrs. Rankin, of Midland, Tex., and Mrs. Carner, of Lake Worth, Fla., each took home $8,750. JoAnne Washam scored a 143 for fourth place and $5,000, and Sandra Palmer, the top money winner on the LPGA tour, finished fifth at 148 for $3,500.

Miss Washam missed an 18-foot putt on the 18th hole, bogeyed the hole and fell out of a four-way tie.

Both Miss Blalock and Mrs. Rankin had opening-round scores of 70.

Joyce Kazmierski and Carol Mann tied for sixth with a 152 total for $2,250 and Chako Higuchi and Pat Bradley tied for eighth at 154, each taking home $1,250 from the tournament, sponsored by the Colgate Palmolive Co.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The NCAA Division II national football championship will be moved from Hughes Stadium here to Wichita Falls, Tex., a site selection committee has announced.

Milt Weisbecker, chairman of the NCAA site selection committee which picks the championship's location, said Hughes Stadium's inadequate facilities prompted the decision to move the Camellia Bowl contest elsewhere.

He said his committee would tell the NCAA executive committee at the Jan. 14-15 national convention in St. Louis that the change should be made in favor of the more modern facility in Wichita Falls. A spokesman said the committee recommendation is in effect a final decision.

HOUSTON (AP) — John Murphy, 16, of Warren, R.I., is the senior boys three-mile champion of the AAU's National Junior Olympic cross country run. After a slow start, Murphy made up ground and won the title Saturday by sprinting past Robert Lopez of Glendale, Ariz., in the final 50 yards. Murphy's time was 14 minutes, 48 seconds.

Poly places 4th in finals

POCATELLO, Ida. — Cal Poly's women's volleyball team placed fourth in the first Women's National Small College Volleyball Tournament championships held here at Idaho State.

UC Irvine defeated Poly 15-3, 15-5 to grab third place Saturday in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women tournament.

Texas Lutheran won the championship by defeating UC Riverside 10-12, 15-12 and 14-12. Sul Ross, Tex., won the consolation crown by beating George Williams, Ill.

15 teams competed in the tournament.

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Chuck Fairbanks of the New England Patriots has been named to coach the North in the 27th annual Senior Bowl football game Jan. 11 in Mobile, Ala. Coach Jack Pardee of the Chicago Bears will direct the South.

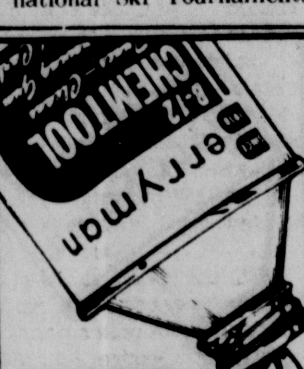

CHICAGO (AP) — The St. Louis Blues fired Coach Garry Young Sunday night and replaced him with Lynn Patrick, who was named to the spot for the third time in the National Hockey League team's eight-year history.

Patrick, who has been active in hockey for more than 50 years, has been serving the club as senior vice president. He was the Blues' first coach in 1967, but was replaced midway in the season by Scotty Bowman, now coach of the Montreal Canadiens. The announcement came just before the start of St. Louis' game here Sunday night against the Chicago Black Hawks.

NAHA, Japan — Yoshitaka Yamamoto of Japan dropped a 15-foot birdie putt on the final hole and won the Expo Cup Golf Tournament by one stroke.

RABAT, Morocco — Billy Casper shot a final-round four-under-par 68 and coasted to a 11-stroke victory over fellow Americans Ron Cerrudo and Tommy Aaron in a $100,000 international golf tournament.

CONTAMINES, France — Lindy Cochran of the United States won the giant slalom of the International Ski Tournament.

Celtics put on pressure

By The Associated Press

"To win in the NBA, you have to play tough defense and hit the boards hard," says Golden State Warriors star Rick Barry.

New Orleans Coach Bill van Breda Kolff agrees. The difference, though, is that Golden State did what Barry said and defeated the Kansas City Kings 115-105 while it was the Boston Celtics that pulled off the execution to defeat the New Orleans Jazz 102-93 in National Basketball Association action Sunday night.

"Boston started playing a pressure defense in the third quarter, and this became their offense," van Breda Kolff moaned. "They took control of the game at that point. This is a game of smartness and cleverness, and the Celtics know that game and they play it smart," the New Orleans coach said.

In other NBA games Sunday, Los Angeles defeated Detroit 110-100, Phoenix stopped Portland 105-96, and Seattle downed Philadelphia 114-105.

In the only American Basketball Association contest, the New York Nets defeated Indiana 99-93.

Warriors 115, Kings 105

"With the speed we have in our backcourt, our big men are able to get the ball out quickly," Barry said. Guard Phil Smith's 26 points paced the Warriors' victory. But it was center George Johnson's 10 rebounds in the final period that enabled the Warriors to pull away from the Kings, breaking away from a one-point lead with six minutes to play and scoring eight straight points to ensure the victory. Kansas City's Nate Archibald led all scorers with 32 points.

Celtics 102, Jazz 93

Charlie Scott, with 25 points—19 coming in the second half—and Paul Silas sparked Boston's victory over New Orleans. "Silas is our stopper," said Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn. "When he comes off the bench something happens. If we're playing well, we play better. And if we're not playing well, we start playing well."

The Jazz led 43-38 at halftime, but with Silas sparking the Celtics, Boston romped to its sixth straight victory and handed New Orleans its sixth straight loss. Louie Nelson paced the Jazz with 18 points.

Sonics 114, 76ers 105

A 31-point production by guard Fred Brown led Seattle over Philadelphia as the SuperSonics posted their third straight victory. The 76ers lost guard Doug Collins, who sprained ankle and George McGinnis, who had 23 points and 19 rebounds, when he fouled out with 1:16 to play.

Suns 105, Blazers 96

Rookie Alvan Adams led Phoenix to victory over Portland. Adams tallied 20 points while Portland's Lloyd Neal took game scoring honors with 24.

Nets 99, Pacers 93

Julius Erving scored 31 points, grabbed 19 rebounds, handed out two assists, made four steals and blocked five shots to boost New York over Indiana. But it took Nets player-assistant coach Bill Melchioni to come off the bench in the third period to help boost New York from a seven-point deficit to a 73-71 lead they never relinquished. Len Elmore scored 21 points for Indiana.

Northridge looks for football coach

NORTHRIDGE (AP) — Cal State Northridge football coach Gary Torgeson said Saturday he is resigning from his teaching-coaching job effective immediately.

Torgeson, 33, had a record of 8-24-1 over the last three years of coaching the Matadors. This year's record was 4-6-1.

Torgeson's request that he be reassigned to a strictly teaching position has been approved by university officials, said university president Dr. James W. Cleary.

A new head coach will be hired after a nationwide search, Cleary said, adding that the new head man won't come from the ranks of Torgeson's assistant coaches.

Cleary praised Torgeson's "dedication and energy in expanding the university's football program."

DePaul keeps poise in big upset

By Associated Press

The "animals" were treated unkindly in college basketball over the weekend. Such creatures as Bulldogs and Jackrabbits were shot down.

But the biggest loss was a bird—more precisely a Louisville Cardinal.

The Cardinals, ranked sixth in the country and a big favorite over DePaul at home, fell behind by 16 points and never caught up while losing a 78-76 stunner.

"We have one of the best offenses in basketball," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer, "but we lost our poise when we let that 16-point lead slip away. You can't lose your poise and expect to win in the big time."

"I knew if we retained our poise, we'd win. And we did."

The Redbirds looked like dead birds when trailing 30-14 in the first half. But Louisville chopped off most of the heavy DePaul lead behind Rick Wilson and finally soared within 72-68 with five minutes left.

The Cards cut the lead to 76-74 with 1:51 remaining, but that was the closest they got. Their last chance evaporated with three seconds remaining when a court-length pass sailed out of bounds. Dave Cor-zine scored 17 points, including a crucial basket in the last five minutes, handed out 13 assists and blocked four shots for the winners.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Marquette routed Drake 80-58; No. 7 Tennessee crushed St. Mary's of Halifax, Nova Scotia, 119-70; No. 8 Notre Dame crushed St. Francis, Pa., 103-73; ninth-ranked Cincinnati walloped Bowling Green 98-81; 10th-ranked Arizona bested SMU 83-81; No. 12 San Francisco outlasted Hawaii 105-103 in double overtime; 13th-ranked North Carolina State defeated Western Carolina 109-94; No. 14 Kentucky tripped Kansas 54-48; No. 17 Auburn turned back South Florida 79-78; 18th-ranked Michigan routed Dayton 106-80; No. 19 Arizona State nipped Idaho State 82-81, and No. 20 Missouri beat South Dakota State 80-57.

Marquette beat Drake with a high-pressure defense that induced 45 turnovers. The Warriors got 20 points from Lloyd Walton and 19 from Earl Tatum to make pussycats out of the Bulldogs. Walton sank a long jump shot and tapped in a rebound as the Warriors broke open a tight game with 10 successive points for a 45-31 lead early in the second half.

Tatum rebounded from an atrocious first half, sinking six of his last eight field goal attempts.

"I thought I was taking good shots earlier, but I wasn't concentrating," he confessed. "I was slightly rushing the shots and they weren't coming off my right hand. But I'm not going to worry. I go to the gym the next day and get my confidence back."

Tennessee's big two—Bernard King and Ernie Grunfeld—combined for 55 points and divided 32 rebounds in the Vols' easy victory over St. Mary's. The victory was the fourth in five games for the Southeastern Conference power.

Adrian Dantley scored 37 points, leading a Notre Dame avalanche over St. Francis. The game was a landmark for Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps—his 100th career victory.

"St. Francis is a well-coached, strong and disciplined team," said Phelps. "The opening minutes were close and we were lucky to wear them down. We're happy to be five and one at this point."

"There's no doubt that Adrian Dantley is one of the best players in the country," said St. Francis Coach Pete Lonegran. "He played great against us. We knew he would get his share of points and so our game plan was to try and neutralize the other four players and go from there."

Robert Miller's 17-point first half led Cincinnati past Bowling Green. Miller, a 9.0 point-per-game scorer last season, finished with 23 in leading the Bearcats in scoring for the sixth straight game.

A three-point play by Bob Elliott with 11 seconds left lifted Arizona over SMU. The contest was the second game of the Fiesta Classic doubleheader at Tucson, Ariz. Rick Taylor hit two free throws with six seconds left, giving Arizona State its triumph in the opener.

Kenny Carr's 21 second-half points powered North Carolina State past Western Carolina. Rick Robey scored 21 points, including two quick field goals in the last four minutes, helping Kentucky beat Kansas. The Jayhawks used a freeze to no avail against the brawny Wildcats.

"We executed well with it," said Kansas Coach Ted Owens. "I guess you can't call strategy perfect when you lose, but I did what I had to do. I think our squad knows it could have won tonight."

A desperation last-second shot by Gary Redding gave Auburn a nerve-wrenching triumph over South Florida. Redding's basket came after South Florida's Eddie Davis, the game's high scorer with 30 points, hit a 20-foot jump shot with eight seconds remaining, giving his team a 78-77 lead.

Sellout crowd fails to spark Kings' win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Kings were at home before a sellout crowd of 16,005, but it didn't help them with the defending Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers.

The Flyers blasted six goals to capture their fifth straight win of the season 6-4 on the Kings' ice Saturday night.

The game was close for a period and a half until Philadelphia's Gary Dornhoefer and Dave Schultz each scored a goal within 18 seconds.

The Kings got scores from Marcel Dionne, Frank St. Marseille, Mike Corrigan and Bob Murdoch.

Wayne Stephenson was the goalie for Philadelphia, since the Flyers' regular goalie, Bernie Parent, is out following neck surgery.

Asked about the grueling pressure of playing every game, Stephenson said, "It doesn't bother me now, but after about eight games of the season, I felt it physically. Then I kept getting in better shape and it became easier."

"The problem isn't physical anyhow; it's mental."

The Kings and Flyers are idle until Wednesday night when Montreal visits the Forum.

WILD WEST

The wild west set up in his own backyard

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Tombstone, the town too tough to die, expired anyway some years ago. But don't tell Mario Quesada because he isn't ready for the funeral.

Quesada and his family are effecting a rebirth of the wild west town in their own backyard at 9040 Ramona Ave. in Montclair.

In his effort to "recapture" the old days, Quesada has constructed a nearly full-size replica of a country store-hotel lobby. One can wander into the "Pacific House Hotel" and play a high stakes game of stud poker with Quesada. If cheating is suspected, you can shoot it out with cap guns.

The hard-working and affable Quesada family also is planning to build a livery stable complete with water tank and a jail for "bad guys."

An ex-Cuban resident, Quesada, 49, says he is "very interested" in old American western towns. "They should have been preserved — the old saloons, everything."

He is unhappy about the fact that Americans did little to preserve the west, and although he finds cowboy programs to watch on television, he's sorry that shows like "Gunsmoke" have been canceled.

But Quesada, an employee of General Telephone Co. in Pomona, is working hard to fashion his own Tombstone. "It was hard at the beginning because we didn't know anything about carpentry," said his son, Mario Miguel, 14. Other family members include Quesada's wife Eulalia, another son, Ramon, 20, and a daughter, Lupe, 10.

They managed to gather up old frontier menus, reward posters and western paintings for the hotel — from friends and co-workers or swap meets.

Antiques, old wagon wheels, harnesses, an Indian axe, and other objects adorn Quesada's backyard. He has old candles, a deer's head, saddles and a plow.

His western "town" so far has cost him $600, because of picking up items on the desert and donations from friends. "We had problems, however," says Mario Miguel. "The roof wouldn't go on right at first and we had to start all over."

Reward posters in Quesada's hotel are interesting to visitors, he said. One poster notifies residents "The Head of Joaquin" and the "Hand of Three-Fingered Jack" will be exhibited in public.

A menu printed in 1875 notes the price of bacon and eggs at 15 cents, sirloin at 15 cents, tenderloin steak, 20 cents, and salmon, 10 cents. One could stay at the "Pacific House" for $1 a night. Fresh linens were available once a week.

Quesada, who left Cuba in 1968, had not seen his favorite American television shows about gun-toting cowboys since 1959, when Castro banned the programs. He never lost his desire for the wild west, however. Shootouts in the street and fearless sheriffs left strong impressions in him.

He was fascinated by the cowpoke's ability to cope with man and the wilderness. "No challenge was too great for him," he declared.

Quesada liked "everything" about the old West, including the way "bad guys" were treated. Even today, he said, "they ought to just shoot criminals."

A firm believer in law and order, Quesada says "the bad will always be bad, and the good will always stay good."

He admires actor John Wayne and hopes someday to meet him in person. Jesse James and Billy the Kid are favorites from the old west.

If there's a cowboy on television, Quesada will watch him. He might even dress up in western clothes for the occasion and fire his cap gun.

And if visitors sit down and play cards with Quesada in his backyard, they might even feel like they've come to Tombstone.

Winds clear air, cause little damage

Winds in the Ontario area on Sunday caused the cancellation of drag races at the Ontario Motor Speedway and slight injury to a youth by a falling tree limb.

A spokesman at the OMS said the "race was blown out due to high winds." No new date for the race has been set.

Scott Archie Rzepka, 16, of 2139 E. Fourth St., Ontario, was walking his bicycle in front of the Squires Restaurant, H Street and Euclid Avenue, when a 35-foot limb fell. The youth was "just sore," according to police reports.

The branch blocked traffic on H Street for a short time.

But the winds appear to stop blowing west of Etiwanda Avenue. The San Bernardino County Sheriff's substation in Fontana reports strong winds this morning.

A sheriff's spokesman said "The winds seem worse today than Sunday, but the only damage has been a couple of windows in a gas station."

Edison Company spokesmen reported no power outages in the Pomona Valley. Winds and blowing debris did cause power failure in several areas north of San Bernardino and the Devore section.

Valley residents were afforded a clear view of the mountains today as an indirect result of winds which continued to whip across much of San Bernardino County.

L.A. man hits freeway divider

A Los Angeles man escaped with minor injuries early Sunday morning when his car struck the center divider on the Pomona Freeway west of Prospectors Road in the Diamond Bar area.

Jose M. Leos, 21, told the highway patrol he had fallen asleep. The car damaged 56 feet of the divider fence and eight posts.

Upland teen nearly freezes to death

A 16-year-old Upland youth nearly froze to death Saturday night in sub-zero temperatures beside a small cabin in Ice House Canyon, sheriff's deputies reported.

Eric Rembas of 1759 N. San Antonio Ave., suffered extreme exposure and was treated and released from Kaiser's Fontana Hospital Sunday.

Rembas and a friend later told deputies they had been hiking in the mountains above Ice House Canyon Lodge Saturday and decided to climb into their sleeping bags and stay overnight near the lodge. The friend, Les Snyder of Ontario, awoke Sunday morning and told his friend he thought he was freezing. When Rembas, nearly unconscious from the cold, did not respond, Snyder hiked down the trail for help.

When deputies and an ambulance crew arrived, Rembas was still conscious but his hands and feet were extremely cold. Deputies said Rembas was suffering the symptoms of "hypothermia," or an acute loss of body fluids brought on by extreme cold.

David Doernback of the Kniffen ambulance crew said that without aid Rembas could have died within four or five hours. The ambulance crew noted that Rembas had not yet suffered frostbite when he was found.

Deputies said the youth was sleeping in a sleeping bag that was not rated for "below zero" temperatures.

Claremont City Council race

Cohen files for nomination

Seeking to serve a full four-year term on the Claremont City Council is incumbent Councilwoman Eleanor Cohen who is the first person to file nomination papers at City Hall in the March council race.

Mrs. Cohen, former city planning commissioner, was a successful candidate in June 1974 for the vacant council seat created by the resignation of Cragi McManigal.

"I would like the opportunity to serve four years, since I have worked only a partial term," she said.

"I'm really pleased with the action the council has taken in several directions," she said.

She noted that the council has made a major emphasis in preserving the housing stock and in maintaining neighborhoods and encouraging neighborhood groups to take a active part.

She said the Claremont Redevelopment Agency has made great strides in the Village shopping area in encouraging property owners and potential developers to become partners.

Items like the ramps in the village for the elderly are encouraging, she said. Mrs. Cohen is serving on the League of California Cities revenue and taxation committee, is vice-chairman of a task force on assessment practices and open space, and a member of the League's housing and community development committee.

When it's taxes less is more

The last-minute rush by Congress to extend this year's income tax cut notwithstanding, millions of Americans will find the tax man taking a bigger bite out of their earnings come January 1.

Effective the first of the year, the maximum taxable wage base for Social Security (FICA) will be $15,300, a rise of $1,200 over the 1975 maximum base of $14,100.

Even though the actual tax rate of 5.85 per cent will remain the same, the increase in the taxable wage base means that next year everyone earning $15,300 or more will pay $895.05 into Social Security, compared to the 1975 maximum "contribution" of $824.85.

This $70.20 increase for each employee (matched by a like amount from employers) will affect some 18 million workers and will pump an estimated $2.1 billion more into the Social Security trust fund.

The 1976 rise in the taxable wage base is the 29th since Social Security was enacted 38 years ago, and it won't be the last one. It's slated to increase another $1,500 in 1977, to $16,800.

All this will make no difference to those workers who will continue to earn $14,100 or less in 1976 or 1977. But then in 1978, the tax rate itself will rise from its present 5.85 per cent to 6.05 per cent, and this will affect every wage earner.

This is assuming, of course, that Congress does not in the meantime revise the schedules again in an effort to keep Social Security benefits in line with the cost of living.

For those who can remember, the maximum Social Security tax in 1937 was 1 per cent of the first $3,000 in income — $30. In 1977, it will be nearly $1,000.

No recession here

The Concorde supersonic airliner may yet turn out to be the aerial Edsel of the 1970s. Certainly, it will be a big blow to the plane's Anglo-French co-builders if the Concorde is denied landing rights in this country because of excessive noise levels and other environmental considerations.

But if U.S. manufacturers have pretty much shouldered the British and French out of the military aircraft market, and if U.S. authorities have the fate of the Concorde hanging in doubt, the French, at least, are determined to crack open another highly competitive part of the U.S. aviation market—the business jet field.

Currently being demonstrated in major American cities is the Corvette, built by France's nationalized aircraft manufacturer, Aerospatiale, the French half of the Concorde team.

The twin-jet Corvette is to the Concorde as the Piper Cub was to the DC-3. And while it remains an open question whether the world needs a supersonic airliner, the French think they have come up with a winner in the Corvette.

Ironically, the business recession from which the country is just emerging has been a boon to business aviation, according to Frank P. Fleming, president of the French firm's North American marketing organization, Aerospatiale Aircraft Corp.

For one thing, falling revenues led to a cutback in commercial airline service to smaller cities and towns, making these areas more dependent upon privately owned and small commuter planes.

At the same time, sharp increases in fuel prices caused the airlines to reduce their schedules drastically — by more than 1,200 flights on an average day last year.

"In many cases," says Fleming, "corporate executives cannot be sure of obtaining space on commercial planes to make necessary visits to company plants. As a result, large corporations are expanding their business plane fleets while smaller firms are buying planes for the first time."

This is the market the fuel-efficient Corvette is aimed at. As for environmental considerations, the plane's "ecologically advanced" engine design, claims Aerospatiale, affords quiet, low-pollutant thrust, thus assuring the prospective buyer of "concerned corporate good citizen compliance" with all federal noise and pollution regulations.

Think on these things

How to leave something unsaid is hard to do. Even when something deserves to be said it is not always wise to say it. Generally, it pushes everything in the opposite direction from the way it should go.

Silence can be as unkind as saying too much—but in most cases it serves a better purpose and there is less to repair in broken friendships.

An ancient philosopher once said, "There is a time to speak and a time to keep silent..." It takes a person of rare sensitive perception to know when that time is.

A step forward

Dear Editor:

This is in response to your editorial on Dec. 7 against the Common Situs Picketing bill that will soon come to President Ford.

Your opinion, I feel is the same as any other big business ideal, that is to say, keep the little man down to achieve your own greater power. This is the same as government—make the poor man pay through the nose and the rich pay nothing. Management feels they must break up the unions because when men join together and unionize, they have a chance to get ahead at least a little.

You say "Situs Picketing will increase costs and unemployment." But what it will really mean is that it will put union men back to work and help run out the non-union contractor. Costs will not go up because union contractors will know in advance what wages and benefits are to be paid. A non-union contractor bids the same as a union contractor. The non-union contractor will bid a fraction lower to under bid a union contractor because he doesn't have to pay any benefits like health & welfare, vacation, retirement etc. Thus, this puts a bigger profit in his pocket.

You seem to imply that contributing to the representatives in Washington is somehow immoral or underhanded. You seem not to mention the fact that every interest group (oil companies, utilities, environmentalists, etc.) do the exact same thing. As everyone knows, and as sad as it seems, money talks in Washington.

Union members have, in recent years, been blamed for higher costs, inflation, and who knows what all because of reorganizing. President Nixon put into effect the wage freeze to show the people what unionism is doing to the country. What it really showed, is that products and inflation still went up, while wages remained fixed; this in turn made more profits for the real culprits, the large companies and corporations. The so called "energy crisis" is another example of how the little people lose and the larger oil companies enjoy their best and largest profits that they have ever had in history. Gasoline prices have almost doubled in the past few years but the working man's wages have gone up a small percentage.

If non-union contractors take over, the union man can say goodbye to his pension, health and welfare benefits, good working conditions and his wages. But I would be willing to bet that costs wouldn't go down at all.

Union members must and will band together to make a decent living and run out the non-union element that is widespread in our country. Situs Picketing is a step forward, finally, for the working man and it doesn't come any too soon. A proud Union Man! — Bruce A. Benjamin

Unsympathetic to doctors

Dear Editor:

The doctors are threatening to quit, not do surgery and so on unless the government solves their malpractice insurance problems. When I read in the papers the number of doctors who are making from $100,000 to over $300,000 per year on just medical patients, and this is the unprofitable portion of their business, I am not too sympathetic to their problems.

When they say we should thank God he (one of the doctor's quote) can see 100 patients a day, I cannot help but wonder if there is a connection between treating this many patients a day and the increase in malpractice suits. Can he possibly treat this many patients a day and do right by any of them? I am amazed some doctor, or even lawyer, has not written to question this same thing. Maybe it would be better for the medical boards to solve their own problems rather than turn to the government. If they don't, I feel it is the first, or rather, another step towards socialized medicine. I don't think any of us really want this, especially the doctors. — D.V.K., Claremont

A welcome sign

Dear Editor:

Your news story regarding Pomona's refusal to cooperate in a valley-wide campaign against burglaries is incredible.

Day after day in the Progress Bulletin, we read of residents' concern for law and order, and their demands for greater protection from criminals. Doesn't city hall and the chief of police know what's happening in Pomona?

It is unbelievable that a community which has a high-crime reputation should reject a plan which could bring safety and comfort to its citizens. For a paltry $3,000 Pomona could join with the other East San Gabriel Valley cities in a coordated campaign to reduce residential burglaries. $3000! — The mayor and city administrator have already spent more than that on non-productive junkets to Mexico and other places without benefit to Pomona. Or don't they care that people in this city are afraid to leave their home — day or night — for fear of returning to an empty house?

Public safety is the prime reason for the existence of local government. Is city hall as callous about that responsibility as it is about integrity?

The chief of police is reluctant to endorse the plan because one of his policemen will fall under the control of the county sheriff's department. Who is better equipped to implement an area-wide program than the sheriff? Petty jurisdictional differences and callous disregard for the public well-being are luxuries which Pomona cannot afford.

The preposterous farce in which the politicians are involved can only bring greater suffering to people who can least afford it. Each stupid move of this nature which demonstrates the incompetence of the present city administration can only result in more empty and boarded-up houses in Pomona. The only thing they need do now is to erect a sign at the entrance to the city: Welcome burglars! — C. L. Bryant, Pomona

A learning center

Dear Editor:

After seeing the heading "Alligator issue is raised in Claremont," Dec. 10, page 2, column 5, I knew immediately that it was referring to my old sixth grade teacher. I am now a student at Claremont High School and would like to speak up in behalf of Mrs. Jackie Jacobson.

Her backyard is not only a landmark but a learning center. When I was in her class we visited her house for a field trip. It was one of the most exciting field trips I have ever had. Looking and learning about alligators at a close range is a great experience.

One grasps more information when one comes in contact with them. If she hadn't had alligators, I would not know the difference between one and a crocodile. I for one, say please amend the ordinance. Not only are her alligators important but her monkeys and everything else in her back yard! — Lyn Liles, Claremont

The death casks

WASHINGTON — Vulnerable casks, loaded with lethal radioactive materials, are moving by truck and train through densely populated areas of the country. An accident could cause a catastrophe.

Yet the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), which handles the radioactive cargo, has ignored the warnings of respected scientists that the safety and security precautions are inadequate.

We first reported on January 22, 1974, that the deadly shipments were passing through population centers. Alarmed by our column, the New York Public Interest Research Group (NYPIRG), a Ralph Nader-inspired organization, investigated the transportation of lethal plutonium, enriched uranium and radioactive waste.

Here are the disturbing findings, which haven't yet been released to the public:

The NRC ships hot radioactive waste in huge, 35-ton, self-cooled casks. If a leak should develop, the escaping radioactivity would poison the air. This could cause cancer and birth defects if not slow death. NRC claims the casks are virtually indestructible. NYPIRG is less certain.

The NRC relies upon the cask manufacturers to test the safety of their own casks. Sometimes the tests are performed on scale models rather than the actual casks. Federal investigators, making spot checks, discovered 64 unreported leaks. NRC contends the leaks occurred in less sturdy casks used to carry non-lethal materials. But NYPIRG, still apprehensive, fears the manufacturers may be more interested in profits than safety.

As evidence of NRC indifference, the agency let the nuclear power industry fly lethal plutonium into New York City's Kennedy airport. An air crash, according to respected scientist John Gofman, could have caused the greatest peacetime disaster in history. NYPIRG estimates the death toll could have exceeded 100,000. Yet planes continued to fly plutonium into the New York area until an alarmed Congress overruled the NRC and passed a special law prohibiting plutonium shipments by air.

NYPIRG found that trucks, carrying lethal radioactive materials and ingredients for nuclear bombs, could easily be hijacked. In one instance, no fewer than 124 persons knew vital details about a shipment of plutonium through New York City. Many never received security clearances, according to NYPIRG investigators. The figure is particularly appalling since, by the government's own calculation, only three "insiders" are needed to pull off a successful hijacking.

Footnote: An NRC spokesman insisted that extensive care is taken to assure that nuclear shipments are moved safely. The spokesman conceded that private industry designs and tests the casks used to transport radioactive materials. But he said that the NRC carefully monitors the process.

INDONESIA STORY — President Ford's stopover in Djakarta was not a mere courtesy call. Over the years, Indonesia's importance to U.S. foreign policy has increased dramatically.

This nation of 13,000 scattered islands has come far since its struggle for independence from the Dutch in the late 1940s. At the time, we personally worked with the Indonesian nationalists to counter Dutch influence in the policy councils of Washington.

The emerging new nation stumbled along for years under ambitious former President Sukarno, an international playboy, who warred against neighboring Malaysia and Singapore.

But since he was deposed and General Suharto took over the leadership in 1967, Indonesia's fortunes have been on the upswing. Roads and canals have been repaired; transportation systems have been improved; the harvests are more bountiful.

The real boon to Indonesia's economy, however, has come from its oil fields. Oil has become the country's biggest earner, putting its books in the black for the first time.

What is important to the U.S., however, are Indonesia's close ties to the West. America's list of friends in Asia has been dwindling since the Vietnam fiasco, so President Ford's visit to Indonesia was no sightseeing stop.

Doc Peirsol Just in jest

In the musty attic of my mind are stored many (to me) interesting tidbits which, whenever the opportunity presents itself, I sort out, dust off and use to make a point with my slightly bored and certainly skeptical grandchildren.

"Patriotism," I tell them, "is a lost art in this materialistic age. But I can remember when 'Remember the Maine!' was a stirring challenge that made the hearts of all true Americans beat faster in righteous wrath."

"So what?" they answer. "You've got to realize, grandpa, that 'As Maine goes so goes the nation' is nothing more than politically inspired propaganda."

Sadly I shake my head. "What's the use?" I ask myself. I had intended to also tell them about penwipers and celluloid collar buttons. —But sometimes even a doddering old remember-when-er has to admit he is licked.

Ralph de Toledano

Soviet goods are shoddy

WASHINGTON — In the 1920s and 1930s, Joseph Stalin added a new chapter to Karl Marx's economic treatise, Das Kapital. To the kinds of planning that Marx had advocated, Stalin added the "planned famine." Its purpose was simple — to starve out the peasants who opposed collectivization of the farms.

Stalin succeeded nobly. Though 12 million to 15 million Russians died as a result of the planned famine, it broke the back of peasant resistance to communism.

Soviet agriculture, of course, has never recovered from the Stalin treatment — which is one reason why the Kremlin must still import billions of dollars worth of grain to prevent the "proletariat" from joining the liquidated peasants. But resistance was crushed, and that's what mattered.

Today, Leonid Brezhnev and his fellow commissars have decided to go Joseph Stalin one better. They are making plans for "planned unemployment" in order to increase Soviet productivity. The Communists have always boasted that under their brand of socialism there is no unemployment. This is not strictly true. But the chances are that in the Soviet Union, if you don't believe in God or freedom, you are likely to have a job — however miserable it may be.

Behind this impending move for the deliberate creation of unemployment is the Kremlin's deep concern over its chronically low productivity of Soviet workers. Though Soviet capital investment in the last decades has matched that of the United States, workers in Russia are not commensurately increasing their output per man hour. Industrial workers have a rate of productivity of about half that of American workers. Soviet farmers produce about 10 per cent of what their counterparts in the United States do.

But this is only part of the story. The goods produced are as shoddy as they are expensive — as any newspaperman who has visited the big GUM department store in Moscow can attest. New buildings begin to sag before they are completed.

And after the big May Day demonstration in Red Square, street cleaners shovel up the soles that have fallen off the shoes worn by the unhappy comrades. The Soviets can dump some of their goods on the undeveloped countries, but in the West they are unsaleable.

The Kremlin has decided that one reason for the shoddiness of Soviet goods and the low labor productivity is too much "job security." It finds itself in the situation of American employers who helplessly watch union officials sternly warning members that they are working too well — and threatening them with disciplinary action if they don't desist.

The difference, of course, is that the Kremlin is helpless. But it is the prisoner of a system which offers incentives to ambition or to the desire to do the job well. "From each according to his ability, and to each according to his need," Marx preached. In the Soviet Union it is: "From each according to his inability and none according to his need."

The new Soviet economics will call for firing those who do not pull their weight. Out of work, they will either starve or "volunteer" for one of those jobs in Siberia which nobody wants. The incentive will be fear, not bigger paycheck.

But who will decide who is the gung-ho worker, who's a drone? From plant managers down to sweepers, Soviet industry has been infected by the "why work?" psychology. What the Kremlin really proposes is the imposition of capitalism's ills, without its benefits.

The only time production surged in the Soviet Union was under Lenin when he briefly introduced his New Economic Policy, which was free enterprise in disguise.

Brezhnev is shrewd enough to realize that imbedded capitalism is the seed of political freedom, which he cannot tolerate. A policy of "Planned unemployment" will send the mortality rate up — but that's about all.

Action Line

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress Bulletin, P.O. Box 2786, Pomona, Calif. 91766. Sign your full name, address and phone number and include copies (not the original) of receipts or other documentation possible. If your letter is published, only your initials will be used.

Her own mistake cause of problem

I'm writing for a neighbor. She lives with her sister. Both are crippled and in bad health. The sister I am writing for doesn't receive her Medi-Cal card. She has asked the social worker why and has been told that it has to come through Azusa. It seems as if the social workers are passing the problem around.

Every month my neighbor has to pick up her check and sign a paper and then go to Azusa to get her card or ask someone to do it for her.

It seems to me that the card should come to her. The sisters are up in years and really are not able to run to Azusa every month.

Please see what can be done in helping them out. — M.E., Pomona

After contacting several people in the Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Services, we were told your neighbor's problem could be solved only by the State Department of Health.

A representative of the Azusa office said she should be getting her card through the computer system and the mail and the Azusa office staff couldn't understand why she wasn't.

In answer to our letter to the State Department of Health, Joanna Stark called from Sacramento to explain that your neighbor had unwittingly caused the difficulty herself.

Fourteen months ago she enrolled in a health plan with a company which has contracted with the state to handle Medi-Cal and Medi-Cal cases and also offers other group insurance policies.

Such companies require that the insured go to doctors and clinics associated with those companies.

After signing with such a company, your neighbor apparently forgot all about it and expected to receive a card so that she could go to her own doctor.

These companies were thoroughly investigated earlier this year. Miss Stark said 99 per cent were reliable.

However, many people who signed up are then under the impression that they have two coverages. This is not true when they are receiving Medi-Cal and Medi-Cal.

Miss Stark reported six people did a lot of checking to uncover your neighbor's contract. Your neighbor has been notified so that she may cancel it, receive her card through the mail and go to her regular doctor if she wants to.

State Department of Health officials believe many senior citizens are making the same mistake. Miss Stark hopes this Action Line explanation can alleviate the problem.

Our advice is to read the agreement carefully before signing up with a health plan.

Our son has a collection of baseball and football trading cards. He is no longer interested in his collection. He doesn't want to throw the cards away.

Do you know anyone who purchases baseball and football trading cards? — S.M., Pomona

In the Pomona area, Richard Iverson buys cards collections. His phone number is 629-4507.

I don't have a problem, just a question. As a new parent, I've received quite a few suggestions that I put my daughter in television commercials and magazine ads.

Some time ago there were advertisements in various magazines as to whom one could contact but I don't see them anymore. Could you give me some information as to whom or what company I may contact? — Mrs. R.B., Pomona

Reliable and well-established advertising companies don't have to advertise for models of any age. They are swamped with applications.

You'll find advertising agencies listed in the Los Angeles yellow pages. If you decide to get in touch with one or more, exercise caution. Proud parents often are easy marks for shady businesses.

Ann Landers

Husband is a rotten loser

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is my husband. He's a great father, a good provider, a lovely guy, but a rotten loser.

Whenever we play backgammon and I win, Pat throws the board across the room and starts a fight.

He accuses me of trying to humiliate him — says I must have cheated because he is the superior player and should beat me every time.

I hate to give up playing backgammon with Pat just because he's a sorehead. It's great fun after the children are asleep to sit down to this fascinating game. But Pat's behavior is so despicable when he loses I don't know what to do. Any suggestions, Ann? — Perplexed n Glendale Heights

Dear Plex: Yeah, do something else — anything — but don't play backgammon with the sorehead. Obviously he can't stand losing to you. If you're smart you'll give up those night games to protect something more important. Your marriage.

Dear Ann Landers: You are not a doctor and you don't pretend to know all the answers. Yet you were the one who identified my husband's medical problem after we had gone to doctor to doctor for 15 years.

Recently, I wrote to you about Jim falling asleep during movies, card games, in church, even at the dinner table. It used to worry me sick that he might fall asleep while driving the car. All the doctors who checked him said he was O.K. and not to worry.

When he fell asleep at a Notre Dame football game (he is a proud alumnus of that great school) I knew something must be terribly wrong. It was you who suggested the possibility that Jim might have narcolepsy.

The following day we went to a doctor recommended by a new neighbor. Sure enough, that was the diagnosis. Since Jim has been on medication he is 100 per cent better. I'm fascinated by the fact that you called the shot. I feel as if we should send you a check. — Grateful

Dear G.: Please don't. It was the new doctor who made the diagnosis, furthermore, I don't want to be nailed for practicing medicine without a license. Glad I could help.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it wrong to bring a cake when invited to a friend's home for dinner?

I came from a small town. My mother and aunts did this often. It seemed like a warm gesture. So far as I know, nobody ever resented it.

We moved to Pittsburgh a few months ago. People here have been very kind to us. Three times I have baked cakes and brought them to dinner parties. Each time I had the feeling the hostess was not pleased.

What about this, Ann? — Love To Bake

Dear Bake: Better bring a box of candy or some non-perishable delicacy in a jar or can.

When a guest brings a cake the hostess may feel obligated to serve it. This louses up her menu. She must either ditch her dessert or serve it in addition to the guest's cake, which is just too much.

If you "Love to Bake" ask the hostess in advance if you can bring a dessert. There's a good chance she'll be pleased. But don't surprise her.

The perfect Christmas gift — ANN LANDERS SPEAKS OUT — $1.50, a collection of her best columns over the years. —

What words end in 'gry'?

Three words in English end in "gry." Two are "angry" and "hungry." What's the third?

NOT MANY STUDENTS of the Old West are aware that the heroic gunslinger known as Wild Bill Hickok curled and set his own hair with perfumed wax.

ALMOST BUT NOT QUITE one out of every three citizens wants no Christmas tree at all. A little more than one out of three prefers a real tree. The other one out of the three puts up an artificial tree.

Q. "WHAT'S President Gerald Ford's bullet-proof vest made of?"

A. A synthetic material originally designed to be the belting in tires.

CATS AND RATS

Occasionally you hear about somebody who loathes cats to the point of repulsion. Such a person can't stand to be in the same room even with a kitten. And the idea of petting such a beast would make said party downright sick. A lady client says this is hard to understand. Maybe so. But would it be hard to understand if the animal were a rat? Probably not. Eight out of 10 women and three out of 10 men are violently repelled by those rodents, dead or alive. Their reaction is not unlike the reaction of feline phobia folk to cats.

REMEMBER, THERE are only 46 states in the United States. Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are commonwealths.

ARABS

In the Arab world, it's indecent to ask a man about the health of his wife. Too personal. Or at least such used to be the case. That was the same society that prohibited its people from complaining about the weather. Theory was any sort of complaint like that was an insult to the Almighty.

ACTOR PAUL NEWMAN has a touch of color-blindness.

MOST PLAYERS of fruit-salad Liberty-Bell slot machines are under the impression their odds get better the longer they play. That's wrong. Chances of hitting the jackpot are exactly the same on the first pull as on the 1,000th. In 1,000 plays, incidentally, there should be about 146 wins to 854 losses.

Jacoby's bridge

Forcing bid with part score

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "We discussed strong two bids all last week. There are lots of reasons why you should use something better if you want to get the best possible results. On the other hand if you are an ordinary bridge player and just want to have fun there is no reason to complicate your bridge life by trying something else. The old-fashioned two bid works pretty well."

Jim: "Most experts use two clubs as their only forcing opening. A very few use one club. These can both work well if you learn how to handle all the problems they cause you but don't let anyone tell you that they simplify bidding. They, and particularly the artificial one club, really complicate matters."

Oswald: "Here is a hand bid some years ago. South decided to take full control. His plan was to bid six if North showed two or three aces. When North showed all four (they played five clubs to show zero or four aces) South bid seven spades."

Jim: "He probably had some anxious moments if North though about notrump. But I see things ended happily. North let him play the one makable grand slam."

Ask the Jacobys

A Wisconsin reader wants to know if spades were always the highest-ranked suit.

The answer is that they always have been in the game of contract bridge, but in the first days of auction they were the lowest suit. The promotion from bottom to top occurred around 1910.

Survey probes self-respect

NEW YORK (AP) — A recent American Management Assns. survey showed that three out of four presidents and managers chose the aspect of "feeling that my work is worth doing" as contributing most to their self-respect.

As the second most important factor in determining self-respect, managers chose "earning an equitable salary," and presidents selected "knowing that my corporation has a good image."

"A major objective of 'The Manager and Self-Respect' survey was to determine if managers were being asked to do things that cause them to lose self-respect," according to James L. Hayes, AMA president. "Over 90 per cent of the 2,000-plus respondents said their jobs are worth doing, they enjoy their work and they are proud of their company."

The one-third return rate on over 7,000 questionnaires sent out to company presidents and managers was the third highest response in the history of AMA surveys.

"This is an indication that self-respect is an important topic to management," concludes Hayes.
